Mexico at War With Axis, Camacho Says

ASKS SEIZURE OF PROPERTY, INTERNMENT

Mexican President Calls Congress to Proclaim State of War.

SINKINGS BRING ACTION

Nation Enraged Over Attacks On Two Ships; Collaboration With U. S. to Increase.

(By United Press)

MEXICO CITY—Mexico, enraged by the ruthless sinking of its ships, began the formalities of declaring war on the Axis today.

President Manuel Avila Camacho, in a three-hour meeting told his cabinet a state of war exists between Mexico and the Axis, called a special session of congress, and announced it not only would be asked to proclaim a state of war with Germany, Italy and Japan, but also to "adopt related measures" to seize Axis property and intern Axis nationals.

In ordering the permanent commission of congress to convoke the extraordinary session at once, Camacho set no time limit, but it was believed that Mexico would be at war with the Axis by Monday since there was no doubt that congress would grant Camacho's request.

The government announcement said that "in virtue of the aggression of which the nation has been the victim on the part of the nations of the Axis—first by the sinking of the Mexican vessel, Potrero del Llano, and then . . . the Faja de Oro. . . . The president of the republic directs the permanent commission to convoke congress in special session . . . in order to declare existence of a state of war between Mexico and the Axis powers and to adopt appropriate (other) measures."

Mexico will be the 10th and largest Latin American nation to declare war on the Axis. Mexico had, by far, the most provocation.

An Axis submarine sank the tanker Potrero del Llano off Florida on May 13. Mexico, not wishing to go to war, sent a note to the Axis through Sweden—with most other American nations, it already had severed diplomatic relations with the Axis—demanding a "full explanation and reparations."

Germany's reply was to sink the ship, Faja de Oro, which was fully illuminated and easily iden-

FOUND IN COMA

Lexington Man In Hospital With Possible Fracture.

Mansfield police today were inquiring into the case of a Lexington man found lying on South Park street early this morning with a possible skull fracture.

Police said that Walter L. Geib, Lexington R. D. 1, was found unconscious near a downtown tavern at 3:05 a. m., and had been taken to General hospital. Police Chief Thomas M. Bell said that police were checking a report that Geib had "stepped outside" of the tavern to settle an argument with a companion shortly before he was found.

Hospital authorities said that X-rays had been taken this morning but that it was not possible to determine immediately whether Geib had suffered a skull fracture. His condition was reported as 'good."

Mr. Motorist, Here's How to Care for Your Automobile If War Conditions Force You to Put It In Storage

By DAVID J. WILKIE
(Wide World Automotive Editor)

DETROIT—Whether Mr. Average Motorist uses his automobile during the present emergency or puts it in storage he cannot escape a lot of problems

He already has heard much about saving tires and gasoline by careful and moderate driving; if he decides not to drive the vehicle but to put it away until these essentials are more plentiful he has a lot more to do than merely drive it into his garage and leave it there.

The paint, tires, chrome trim, upholstery, battery, radiator, engine, gasoline system, clutch, and other parts of the car need special attention if the vehicle is to be put in so-called "dead" storage for the remainder of the war.

One of the most important things is the draining of gasoline from tank and carburetor. This can be done by running the motor until it stops after draining the tank proper.

Next is the battery, which deteriorates more rapidly in idleness than in operation. It will require even more careful servicing with a re-charge about every six weeks.

The radiator and cooling system must be drained to avoid rust.

In caring for the tires it is advisable, if possible, to remove them with the wheels and store them, packed horizontally, in a cool dark place. If removing the wheels is impracticable jack up the car so the tires will be clear of the floor.

The clutch should be kept disengaged with a small block of wood. Helpful for preservation of the engine is the coating of the cylinder walls with lard oil. This can be done by removing each spark plug and injecting half an ounce into each cylinder, turning the engine over a couple of times to spread it and then replacing the spark plugs.

It is advisable also to cover the carburetor, air cleaner, crank case ventilator inlet, outlet and tail pipe with small paper bags, securely held with twine.

It is helpful to leave the rear axle, transmission and engine oil in the car. The hand brake should be in a released position.

If you have gone this far your next step is to clean the upholstering, carpet and carpet inserts, spray them with a dependable moth-proof chemical and then close all windows to keep out dust.

The body finish should be washed and polished or waxed and the chrome trim should be given a coating of light oil, petroleum jelly or grease, taking care that none is permitted to come in contact with the rubber trim.

War Leader?

Gen. Lazaro M. Cardenas, former president of Mexico, is expected to be President Avila Camacho's choice as commander of all Mexican armed forces if the country declares war on the Axis as the result of sinking of her ships by enemy submarines.

SIX MISSING IN HEAVY FLOOD

Water Starts to Recede After Sweeping Pennsylvania Cities, Towns.

(By International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa—Flood waters that swept through cities, towns and boroughs in Lackawanna county and northern Luzerne county last night, causing untold damage, driving hundreds from their homes and paralyzing traffic, began receding today.

Six persons were reported missing in a flood at Honedale, Wayne county seat 37 miles from Scranton. According to reports reaching Scranton, authorities said the six were believed drowned when their home was washed away.

Police rescued 200 families from Scranton's flooded lowlands, requisitioning boats from nearby lakes and summer resorts.

Although no official estimate of damage was forthcoming until police can make a survey, it was reported that the damage might run above $1,000,000. Stocks of merchants were damaged in Carbondale and Olyphant, where the waters reached a depth of two feet.

Creeks, brooks and the Lackawanna river left their banks and

Lawyers, Judges Convene, Discuss Their War Tasks

Approximately 275 judges and lawyers from northcentral Ohio cities and counties were in Mansfield this afternoon to discuss their part in the war program and to hear interpretations of Ohio legal code changes made by the last general assembly.

Coming from 10 counties, the judges and lawyers were here for a regional meeting of the Ohio State Bar association at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Round table discussions were on the program this afternoon and Chester G. Wise of Akron, president of the state bar association, was scheduled to speak at a dinner meeting tonight on the subject: "This Emergency."

Leaders at the discussion period included Attorneys Russell J. Burt of Canton, Francis J. Amer of

COUNTY TO HAVE 1,000 IN 18-19 REGISTRATION

Draft Boards Make Estimate As State Predicts Ohio Will Enroll 125,000.

Selective service officials estimated today that approximately 1,000 will register in Richland county June 30 in the call for youths 18 and 19 years old, and those who reached 20 since last Dec. 31.

Complete details are still to be worked out, but officials of the three draft boards in the county indicated there would be only three or four registration points on June 30. These would be at the three draft board offices, located in Mansfield, and possibly at a temporary point in Shelby.

"Throughout the state, approximately 125,000 will register, raising Ohio's total registration for military and civilian duty to 2,300,000. Throughout the nation, the registration figure on June 30 is expected to be over 3,000,000.

This registration will complete a manpower inventory that President Roosevelt declares is advisable "to insure victory, final and complete, over enemies of the United States."

The youths in the 18-19 age group will not be subject to military service, under present law, until they reach their 20th birthday. President Roosevelt's proclamation calling for the new registration did not in itself forecast a drive for a lower age limit for military service. The draft act originally contemplated registration of those from 18 to 64.

However, army and navy officials at Washington have emphasized to members of congress that calling of 18- and 19-year-old youths is desirable, not only to

SHIPPING SHORT

But FDR Says Sub Menace And Shortage Being Solved.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt said last night that the shipping situation was serious but that the submarine menace was being solved.

"We have been, we still are, confronted with a serious shortage of ships to carry the essentials of war," he said in a maritime day statement. "Submarines of the Axis aggressors have taken a heavy toll.

"But that problem, like others confronting us, is being solved. Our ships are going through and will continue to go through in growing numbers."

Scouts Sell Out of Poppies, 12,000 of Them, Before Noon

Mansfield bought its first wartime poppies so fast today that the supply of 12,000 placed on sale by the American Legion auxiliary was exhausted before noon.

Initial reports showed that $900 had been obtained from the sale and the total was expected to equal that of last year when $1,232 was received, Mrs. Samuel Harkins, Poppy day chairman, announced.

Boy Scouts and Junior Auxiliary members conducting the sale sold poppies as fast as they could get them. William Walter of Troop 7 appeared to be setting a record when he asked for 100 more poppies after disposing of 200. Approximately 100 Scouts and auxiliary members aided in the sale.

Local industries responded liberally to the Poppy day appeal, Mrs. Harkins said, some of them writing checks to the auxiliary and then distributing poppies free among their workers.

All Poppy day funds in the past have been used for rehabilitation work among ex-service men and their families. This year, according to a new ruling by the national organization, some of the funds may be diverted to help the families of men in the current crisis.

The Mothers' club of the Legion auxiliary aided the organization today by preparing lunch for the poppy sellers. Mrs. Martha Gardner, club president, was in charge. Mrs. Henry Emmer served with Mrs. Harkins as co-chairman.

FAVORS $42

Committee Decides on Lower Army-Navy Pay Increase.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The conference committee on the soldier pay bill was reported today to have decided on a $42-a-month minimum for privates and seamen instead of $50 if it can retreat gracefully from the higher figure.

"The $50 is out," said one member as the group was called back into closed session this morning. Its main task, is to settle the difference between the house figure of $50 and the $42 provided in the senate bill.

One compromise proposed soldiers be given the $8 difference in war bonds and stamps, another would substitute a $10,000 life insurance policy.

NATION PLANS RIGID CONTROL OVER TRAVEL

Use of Buses, Trains, Planes To Be Rationed to Meet Military Needs

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The nation's war planners today charted a voluntary program of rigid controls over the day-to-day movements of every person in America as the war effort swept into a new phase—a transportation cycle concerned with the flow of men, munitions and materials.

Freedom of travel—the right of an individual to roam without restraint as to time, place, method and manner—is destined to become the next casualty of total war, a victim of the United States' all-out fight against the Axis powers.

Clearly under consideration by federal war agencies, if not actually imminent, were:

1. Nation-wide restrictions on the consumption of gasoline to safeguard the country's most precious stockpile of rubber—automobile tires.

2. Rationing of travel by bus, boat, plane and railroad to clear transportation channels for a tremendous flow of men, munitions and materials of war.

3. Requisitioning of as many of the nation's 33,000,000 private passenger cars as are necessary to insure uninterrupted transportation of war workers to booming assembly lines.

Officials frankly admitted that transportation holds the key to the nation's military success.

With the war six months old, every transportation requirement has been met to date. There has been no "break-down" in the expanding movement of troops, armaments, munitions, materials, supplies and essential civilian needs. Officials add, however, iron-clad controls will have to be exercised

Judge Kalbfleisch To Seek Common Pleas Nomination

Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch today announced he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for common pleas judge in the Aug. 4 primaries.

His announcement came close on the heels of the announcement of Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston yesterday that he would seek re-nomination on the Democratic ticket in August.

Candidates for judicial offices run on party tickets in the primaries, but on non-partisan slates in the fall election.

In announcing his candidacy, Judge Kalbfleisch said:

"Frequent urgings from friends, business associates and party leaders have prompted me to make my decision to seek the office of common pleas judge. With 18 years of legal experience behind me and the greater part of them as prosecuting attorney and municipal judge, I

Hurl Infantry, Tanks at Reds On Long Front

(By United Press)

MOSCOW—Front line dispatches today said that tank-borne Russian riflemen and fast-moving artillery had smashed repeated Axis counter-attacks with huge losses—including 75 of 150 armored vehicles in one battle—and enabled the Red army to press its offensive on the Kharkov front.

Fighting on the front, where the Red army broke through the outlying German defenses, obviously was intensified and German counter-thrusts by tank units were stronger, especially in the direction of the Izyum-Barvenkovo sector, on the south flank of the Soviet offensive.

(The German high command claimed that the Russian offensive had collapsed and that since Thursday the Axis forces had been progressing in a counter-offensive on the entire front.)

But dispatches to the Red Star and Izvestia told of repeated instances in which Russian automatic riflemen, riding on tanks and artillery units that wheeled rapidly against the enemy flanks, had hurled back counter-attacks in which the Germans were reported officially to have lost 15,000 killed in the Izyum-Barvenkovo area.

The tanks, the paper said, were warding off or absorbing Russian blows and then leading Nazi efforts to counter attack.

Huge masses of German tanks and infantrymen attacked on a wide front in the Izyum-Barvenkovo area in the fourth day of a savage and costly counter-offensive against the left flank of Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's southern army a special dispatch to the army newspaper Red Star said.

The Russians, often out-numbered three to one, threw back innumerable attacks despite the arrival of a stream of German reinforcements and then, seizing the initiative, advanced several miles in one sector and, dislodging the Germans from an inhabited point in another, cut off and wiped out the retreating enemy garrison.

Attacks by several long German tank columns, which advanced on a narrow front in an effort to wedge into the Russian line, were defeated, Red Star said.

The Russians after destroying 39 enemy tanks counter-attacked and pushed the Germans to their original positions.

Guards regiments, who stormed and captured a strongly fortified German position and sent the Germans fleeing in disorder, made the gain before Kharkov, it was reported.

Attacking behind their tanks in a sudden thrust under cover of night, the Red army troops pierced the enemy stronghold, drove out its garrison with bayonet and hand grenade and captured quantities of war materials which the Germans were compelled to abandon in their flight.

The Russian noon communique, reporting this success, said:

"In the Kharkov direction our forces drove the enemy from a strongly fortified inhabited point. The retreating Germans left behind five field guns, 12 machine guns, a depot of mines and a wire-

VICTORY: Chinese Crush Jap Landing; Battle New Advance

(By United Press)

CHUNGKING—The Chinese, having killed 10,000 or more Japanese in crushing a landing near Foochow, were fighting desperately today to stem the advancing enemy near Yiwu, 25 miles northeast of Kinhwa.

A high command communique disclosed the victory over an unofficially estimated 20,000 to 30,000 Japanese who landed from 20 warships on Chwanshih island, north of the Min river estuary on Wednesday.

Although the Japanese landed under a heavy barrage from their ships, more than half of them were annihilated, and the rest fled in panic back to their ships, which were later engaged by Chinese shore batteries, the communique said.

The high command said the Japanese captured Tunglu, 35 miles southwest of Hangchow and 50 miles northwest of Yiwu, on Tuesday. They dispatched two columns south, which were encountering stern Chinese resistance.

Chinese dispatches said that Kinhwa and other towns in the coastal province of Chekiang were bombed yesterday by 44 Japanese planes, attacking widely separated points. A few attacked strategic points in Kiangsi province, while eight pounded Hengyang, an important railway junction in Hunan province.

The progress of fighting in Burma was not clear. Up to Tuesday, it was said, the Chinese still

GRAPHIC: 'Devil Dog' Tells of Terrible Last Night on Bataan

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO—One of the most colorful stories of conditions on Bataan peninsula before its fall to overwhelming Jap odds was told today by Col. William T. Clement, former chief marine officer of Manila bay, who was spirited away to Australia on the eve of the peninsula's fall.

Pausing here in San Francisco on his way to Washington to receive new orders, the 48-year-old "devil dog" described in graphic fashion the American defense of the battered stronghold.

Garbed in the same battle-stained tropical khaki he wore while directing his forces, he told of massed Japanese artillery, augmented by continuous air pounding against a short section of the American battle line, and declared that these were the tactics that brought the final fall of the peninsula.

"The last night was pretty terrible," the colonel related. "Throughout the night we were demolishing supplies and blowing up ammunition dumps.

"Our troops were too tired, too weak to block the Japs.

Col. Clement, a resident of Richmond, Va., was evacuated from the Philippines for special duty in western Australia.

He praised the Philippine scouts as the best fighting men he had ever known.

"They are fearless, marvelously acute and they are adept at jungle warfare," he declared.

He said the Jap soldier is a rugged fellow, but that he is no superman.

"He doesn't use his head like an American. Tell him to do something and that's his horizon," the colonel said.

THE WAR TODAY

This daily feature, conducted by Dewitt Mackenzie, Wide World analyist, is being written in his absence for a fortnight by Fred Vanderschmidt.

A surprising amount of pleasant but vague talk about how the war "is going to end this year" provided the background for President Roosevelt's cautionary remarks of yesterday to the effect that, on the contrary, it was going to be a long war.

As Mr. Roosevelt said, there was no special reason for this wave of optimism. Apparently, however, it stemmed from a combination of the repulsion of the Japanese fleet in the Coral sea, the preliminary reports on the Russian offensive before Kharkov, and on the "gloom offensive" which has come out of enemy Germany itself, in the speeches of Hitler, Goering and company.

What has been overlooked by the optimists are these facts:

1. The Japanese fleet north of Australia remains an extremely sinister factor.

2. The Red army's Kharkov offensive is a preventive military action, designed to weaken the power of the expected German offensive against the Caucasus which today appears to be in its developing stages, despite heavy German losses in material.

3. The Hitler-Goering lamentations about how tough the going is for Germany were carefully wrapped up and delivered in America by the Nazi short wave radio "news" services because the Nazis wanted them to be believed.

Several keen students of the Nazi propaganda strategy have become convinced in recent days that Hitler's present efforts are directed toward creating an early military stalemate and that, to this end, he is trying to build up a peace mood among the people of the United Nations.

Axis radio broadcasts certainly bear this out. Yesterday, while the Tokyo propagandists were busy arguing that "China and Australia are fighting over American aid, and are able to get nothing but promises," Berlin radio was covering the American home front thus:

"News stories" about rising wages are "giving the U. S. A. government shivers" over inflation.

Alternating reports of vast profits for oil companies in Rumania and allegedly decreasing returns for U. S. petroleum industries.

"Labor news" about how contact with Russia is going to "undermine" workers' morale in America.

All this could have but one purpose: to plant in American minds the fear of the consequences of a long struggle.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

They Miss You, Broadway.

GONE from Broadway these nights are some of its most familiar and most welcome faces. They've gone, some to far places, to help win a war that will keep lights burning and hearts singing along Times Square and every town square in the country, and although you might not think Broadway would miss a handful of boys who've left for the armed forces, it does. It missed them a lot. And the boys who wear the blue and the khaki miss Broadway, too.

Kilgallen

What do they miss, you ask?

* * *

Well, a doughboy far from the Great White Way misses, first of all, the wonderful bright pageant of the street. (We miss that, too.) He has his radio, but that's not like Eddy Duchin in person or Jimmy Dorsey in person or Hildegarde strutting around her piano or the Hartmans pawing each other with their magnificent silliness, or Russell Swann pulling a rabbit out of a hat.

Misses the Rhumba and Conga.

He misses the rhumba and the conga, but he demonstrates them to his buddies, because most of them don't know those steps. . . . He goes to the movies, but that's not like pointing out Paulette Goddard at the Stork or Errol Flynn at the Martinique or Rosalind Russell at the Ruban Bleu. . . . He gets sentimental and sometimes melancholy over the old gang at Lindy's and Toots Shor's. . . . He could go for a sandwich at Reuben's. . . . When he thinks about it he misses the dim lights at the Barberry Room and his girl's reflection in the mirror there. . . . And there's nothing in his mess hall to remind him of the service at the Colony.

A fellow in uniform, a fellow from Broadway, misses the Wednesday morning opening at the Paramount, when the line swings down to Eighth avenue, almost. . . . He misses that Russell Market place, the gigantic stage of the Music Hall. . . . And oh, how he'd like to catch Gertrude Lawrence in "Lady In the Dark" again!

He'd Like to See Newcomers.

He'd like to have Dinah Shore sing for him again the way she did that night at the Wedgwood room, or he'd like to watch Billy DeWolfe imitate Frankenstein the way he did one evening at the Rainbow room. . . . Word has gotten to him about the Latin Quarter and about Zero Mostel, and he'd like to see for himself what they're like. . . . Instead of going to bed and listening to taps sound, he'd rather hear the taps of the kids in "Best Foot Forward" or maybe the Roxy line.

Our doughboy also misses all the money he spent around Broadway in the days when war was just something the headlines talked about and one of the more important things in life was a ringside table. Why, the tip he gave a waiter at the Stork club the last time he was there would give him a good time somewhere near camp this Saturday night. Instead, he'll stay around the barracks and join in the whistles of the khakied audience as Betty Grable slithers across the screen in "Song of the Islands."

Misses Those B'way Crowds.

He'd like to stand on the corner of Forty-fifth and Broadway and have his shoes shined, and watch the crowds go past. . . . He'd like to see every edition of the papers as they come up with the latest headlines. . . . He'd like to meet a pretty babe at a stage door and stroll with her along Eighth avenue, looking in at the restaurants that have live lobsters on ice in their windows. . . . He'd like to dance. . . . He'd like to wear a white shirt. . . . He'd like to see the old faces that were just faces a few months ago, and now mean home to him.

You know what he'd like, this doughboy who was once a playboy or a reporter or an actor or a trombone player. He lies on a rough cot in his barracks way out there after the lights have gone out and in the quiet when the fellows stop talking he thinks, Gosh, if I could only spend Saturday night in New York! He plans the tour he'd take — the Diamond Horseshoe, 21, the Hurricane, the 18 Club, oh! every place from Spivy's to El Morocco. It would cost three months' pay, but let him dream about it.

Yes, the Stem's sons miss it, the way a stranded child misses home. Maybe that's a little bit of the reason why they're fighting so hard and so well to get back to it.

Boys, Broadway sends its regards to you, wherever you are. Hurry and finish the job! Hurry back home!

U. S. SEEKING WAYS TO SPEED AID TO RUSSIA

Soviets Want Wheat, Sugar In Addition to Planes And Tanks.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The United States government today is considering new ways and means of speeding up American aid to Soviet Russia.

Although American war supplies to the Soviet Union are now moving faster than ever before, the shipments still are somewhat behind the schedule promised the Russians.

The Soviet government recently submitted a new list of requirements to this government. The list included a request for a considerable amount of rubber.

In addition to actual implements of war, such as planes and tanks, the Soviet Union also wants wheat, flour and sugar. Germany's conquest of the Ukraine has caused a shortage of these food stuffs in Russia. The Soviets also have asked for meat products and vegetable oils.

The offensive spirit shown by the Soviet armies in the Kharkov campaign has increased the hopes of official Washington that Russia may be able to hold out against the Germans this year if the required military supplies can reach the Soviet Union quickly enough.

With summer approaching and a major German offensive against the Soviets expected to get under way shortly, Russia's part in the world conflict is now nearing what American officials regard as its crucial stage.

Reports concerning the situation within Germany, both as regards morale and the shortage of oil, tend to strengthen the belief of informed sources here that Hitler is doomed if his military machine fails to smash the Russian army this year.

While it is considered too optimistic to expect that Germany can be knocked out of the war completely, there is growing hope that if the Russians can continue to display the fighting strength being shown in the Kharkov offensive, the United Nations may be able to cripple the German war machine before the end of 1942.

ANSWER PLEA

Richland Countians Buying More Bonds, Chairman Says.

Richland county residents are responding to the appeal for increased war savings bond purchases, voiced yesterday by Paul M. Eliot, county bond sale chairman, following a report by the state war savings staff which showed Richland lagging behind some other counties.

Eliot reported he had received a number of telephone calls, within several hours after his appeal was issued through The News-Journal, from residents who planned to step up their purchases. Two individuals said they were planning purchases of several thousand dollars worth of bonds immediately

Eliot expressed conviction that Richland county will stage a strong finish in the remaining days this month to carry the total bond purchases for May above the quota of $295,200, set for the county by the Treasury Department.

TRIES TO BLOCK PENSION BILL

Administration Wants Measure Deferred Until After End of War.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The administration sought today to block World war pension legislation passed by the house almost a year ago and reported near approval by the senate finance committee.

After conference with President Roosevelt, veterans administrator Frank T. Hines said he would seek an early conference with majority leader Barkley (D.-Ky.), and chairman George (D.-Ga.), of the finance committee to ask that the legislation be deferred "because of other demands" now upon the government.

The senate group recently suspended hearings on two bills involved pending a determination of the president's reaction. Hines told reporters the chief executive had not expressed a stand on either measure, but the administrator hinted both would be vetoed if passed now.

The administration, it was believed, would look upon pension proposals more favorably after the war is over.

The two measures would cost upwards of $30,000,000 the first year, according to official estimates, with the cost rising thereafter.

One provides for pensions for widows and children and dependent parents of veterans of the World war. The other increases to $40 a month from $30 the existing pension for disabled veterans and grants this pension to all veterans when they reach 65.

4 ESCAPE IN TRAFFIC CRASH

Two Cars, Truck Damaged in Route 30 Collision.

Four persons escaped injury yesterday afternoon in an accident which damaged two cars and a truck on U. S. Route 30-S three miles west of Mansfield.

State highway patrolmen said the accident occurred when a truck driven by Tom Frate, 36, of Cleveland crashed into the rear of an automobile driven by Clifford J. Perry, 28, of Ontario, forcing Perry's car into an automobile driven by George L. Pfahler, 27, of North Robinson. Vehicles driven by Perry and Pfahler were halted on the highway behind a school bus which had stopped to discharge pupils.

CONGRESSMEN INVITED TO GO TO ENGLAND FOR TALKS ON WAR

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Congressional leaders were reported divided today on whether to send ten senators and representatives of both parties to England for talks with parliament on war problems and peace aims.

A tentative invitation for the visit was laid before a group of senate and house leaders by an unnamed British spokesman at a secret conference at the Capitol yesterday.

Democrats were said to have given the idea general approval. However, senate Republican Leader McNary and house Republican Leader Martin were reported somewhat skeptical about the wisdom of sending such a large delegation to Great Britain at this time.

A reported suggestion at the conference that the leaders of both houses be included among the five Republicans and five Democrats who would make the trip, probably in July, brought questions as to the effect of their absence on the progress of important legislation, particularly the tax bill now pending before the house ways and means committee.

There was some doubt among leaders, it was said, whether an announcement of plans for such a conference might not draw the ire of senators who were critical of Great Britain and the British war effort before Pearl Harbor.

Fear of public criticism of the trip as a "congressional junket" also was mentioned.

Those interested made it plain that no definite invitation had been issued in behalf of the British parliament or would be issued until congressional leaders determined for a certainty whether it would be accepted. The plan was advanced, they said, to bring together the legislative leaders of the two countries primarily for a study of the problems of conducting the war and to sound out each others' views on the kind of a peace that might be reached when fighting on the battlefields had ended.

RAISE $1,200

Navy Relief Workers Make First Report In Drive.

Campaign workers for the Mansfield and Richland county citizens committee of the Navy Relief Society rounding up their first week's effort to raise $6,300 for Navy Relief reported today that approximately $1,200 had been pledged and collected to date.

Harry S. Black, vice president of the Ohio Brass company and chairman of the committee, complimented workers on their progress and urged all city and county residents to make contributions if they had not already done so.

The campaign, which started last Monday, will run until June 15. The Richland county unit has a goal of $6,300 as its part in raising $5,000,000 nationally to help the relatives and dependents of men in the navy, coast guard and marines.

PROBE BEATING OF YOUNG GIRL

Mansfield police were called out yesterday afternoon to investigate the beating of a 12-year-old girl near her home on Wayne street yesterday by a Wayne street resident.

Police said they were called to the scene by neighbors who feared that the girl would be seriously injured in the encounter. Police reports stated that the fight started in an altercation over money and that the girl's assailant was her aunt.

The case has been referred to Ralph Carroll, county probation officer, for investigation.

DIES FRIDAY

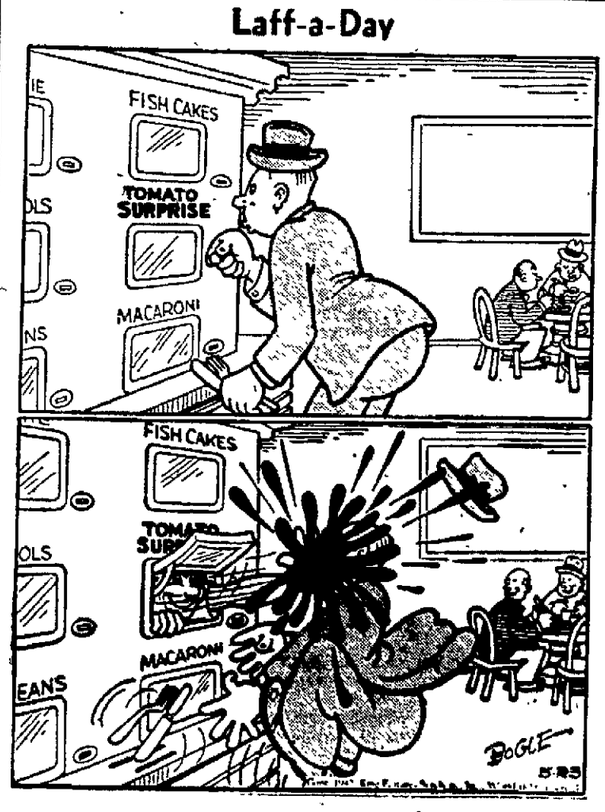
Mrs. Emma Fisher, 83, Was Richland County Native.

BELLVILLE—A life-long resident of Richland county, Mrs. Emma Fisher, 83, died Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Leland Clever, Franklin township, following a brief illness.

Surviving besides her daughter with whom she made her home, are a son, Glenn Fisher, Mansfield; six grandchildren; two great grandchildren; a brother, William Schafer, Ponca City, Okla., and a sister, Mrs. Adam Foss, Wooster.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Snyder funeral home. Rev. Floyd Eckert, pastor of Franklin Methodist church will officiate. Burial will be in Bellville cemetery.

Laff-a-Day



Mansfield police had a small gang of "Dead-End" kids on their hands today but the kids readily confessed. Three youngsters, six, eight and nine years old, were herded into police headquarters in connection with minor thefts from downtown garages recently. Police said the group headed by the eight-year-old, who was "the boss," confessed to the thefts and were handed over to Ralph Carroll, county probation officer.

Rural mail boxes, like everything else made of metal, are feeling the effects of priorities. Because of the need of such material for war equipment the United States postoffice has issued a ruling to all its branches to permit the use of any suitable receptable which will properly protect mail from the weather in the event rural residents find it impossible to obtain a box of the approved type. Substitutes for the approved type will be permitted only during the emergency and they must be equipped with a signal device that will indicate whether or not the carrier is to pick up mail.

County Supt. of Schools Boyd Robinson is willing to let women coach basketball, direct bands, and teach industrial arts in Richland county schools for the duration of the emergency, but he wants men back on the jobs after the war. That's what he stated today when he answered a questionnaire mailed to him by an Oxford, O., educator. Robinson wasn't sure about the purpose of the questionnaire, but he thought the educator may be writing a thesis on the teacher. The county superintendent hopes the problem won't be serious enough to require the hiring of women only, for he believes at least some of the teachers beyond the fifth grade should be men.

START TO ROLL

Sheets of Synthetic Rubber Being Produced at Akron.

AKRON—(U.P.)—Sheets of synthetic rubber, the first produced under a government program aiming at 1,000,000 tons a year, are rolling from two mills here.

This supply is in addition to small quantities private plants already were producing, the new plants will be producing soon, but officials of rubber companies see a long period in which civilians will get no tires.

P. W. Litchfield, chairman of the board of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, said the United States was consuming 600,800 tons a year. A stockpile was hurriedly imported from Malaya and the Netherlands East Indies, but it had reached only 650,000 tons when the Japanese started a campaign that soon gained for them control of 93 per cent of the world's rubber supply.

VICHY, GERMAN RELATIONS HIT

Gen. Giraud Rebuffs Close Aid of Adolf Hitler.

VICHY—(U.P.)—A contemptuous rebuff of one of Adolf Hitler's closest aids by Gen. Henri Giraud, French war hero who escaped from a German war-prisoner fortress, has resulted in paralysis of all negotiations between Vichy and Germany, it was learned today.

At a dramatic conference here he persisted in his refusal to return to Germany except in exchange for 500,000 French war prisoners. He told Otto Rahn, Hitler's secret counselor, that he would not trust the word of any German—and specifically would not trust Rahn.

Rahn left hurriedly for Paris last night and Chief of Government Pierre Laval left with him, ostensibly to attend the funeral of Cardinal Baudrillart.

REPORT BOMBS DAMAGE PLANT

German Dispatches Report New South African Bombings.

BERLIN (from German Broadcasts)—German dispatches from Lisbon said today that there had been three new bombings last night near Johannesburg in the Union of South Africa.

These reports said an electric power plant near Johannesburg was damaged seriously, water mains were broken and communications wires between Johannesburg and Pretoria cut.

An earlier explosion was said to have occurred on a rail line in the Johannesburg area.

GETS CONTROL OVER UNION'S STRIKE CALLS

New President Promises to Fight Any Attempt at Undermining Power.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — Elected without opposition to head the CIO's new United Steel Workers of America, CIO President Philip Murray today expressed his desire to promote "national unity within labor movements of this country" but promised to fight to the bitter end to protect his leadership of the union.

Murray also headed the Steel Workers Organizing committee from which the new union was formed.

"I always try to evade discord and dissension," he asserted, "but if any attempts are made to undermine, destroy and sabotage my leadership of this union I shall then fight any man who tries it until hell freezes over."

First president of the new union at a $20,000 annual salary, Murray assumes broad powers under the union's constitution which provides "no strike shall be called without the approval of the international president."

Other officers elected by the Steel Workers before the convention closed last night were Van A. Bittner, 57, Chicago, and Clinton S. Golden, 58, assistants to the president, and David J. McDonald, 40, Pittsburgh, secretary-treasurer. The positions pay $12,000 annually. All officials held similar posts with the SWOC.

District directors chosen by the USA included: Canton—I. Abel; Cleveland—W. F. Donovan; Youngstown—James Quinn; Cincinnati—Al Whitehouse; Columbus—Howard Porter.

AFL Again Asks CIO 'To Come Back Home'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The AFL today held out a new offer to its offshoot, the CIO, asking the rival labor organization to come back home again "because of the war."

Old wounds in the side of labor immediately became apparent in the response of Philip Murray, CIO president, who said that obstacles to reunion were perhaps the same the organization "had to meet back in 1935."

It was then that John L. Lewis, towering figure in the United Mine Workers, led a dozen unions away from the parent AFL in the unended controversy over the craft versus the industrial union organization.

William Green, AFL president, announced at the end of the organization's executive council meeting yesterday that the council had instructed him to advise CIO representatives that "the peace committee of the AFL stands ready to meet with them for the purpose of negotiating peace and unity."

Such action is necessary because of the war," Green said.

Crowds Discover New York Dimout Means Business

NEW YORK—(INS)—Thousands of fun-loving New Yorkers who poured into the dimmed out Broadway theatrical district to witness the complete blackout of all Manhattan found out today that Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia wasn't fooling when he said the streets must be cleared when the city is plunged into darkness.

The 20-minute blackout began at 9:30 p. m. last night and just before the lights went out hundreds of policemen and air raid wardens swooped down on the carefree strollers in Times Square.

Herding the crowds into every available doorway and pushing them back into side streets, the police took all of the merriment out of the 20-minute test.

LaGuardia had been particularly annoyed when Times Square was blacked out April 30, by the lack of seriousness of the "white way" habitues and their failure to take shelter when the "raid" warnings were sounded.

The blackout itself was considered a success. It was the first time the whole island of Manhattan had been blacked out at the same time. The next step, it was said, will be a blackout of the entire city.

Monday at 7:30 p. m, the first aid class will meet. Wednesday at 2 p. m., Mrs. Henry Beilstein and Mrs. Karl Burggraf will entertain the Missionary society at the church. Mrs. W. B. Linn will lead the lesson study. The quarterly thank offerings will be given. Thursday Nighters will hold an outing and supper at the home of James Wappner on South Main road Thursday at 6:30 p. m. Assisting with the arrangements are Mr. and Mrs. William Wappner and Miss Barbara Lehman.

Young People to Assist in Service

The semi-annual Youth Service Sunday will be observed tomorrow in the Church of the Brethren in Lincoln Heights. Young people of the church will have charge of all church and church school functions.

Church school leaders for the 9:30 a. m. period include Robert Jacoby, Pauline Miller, William Cox, Edwin Jacoby, jr., Mary Cathrine Stoner, Barbara Gottfried, Margaret Thorpe, Vincent Kennedy, Marybelle Cole and George Fike.

At the 10:30 a. m. service the following young people will assist: Robert Dishong, Dorothy Fike, Robert Erdinberger, Robert Kissel. The junior choir will sing "We Would Be Building," arranged to the tune Finlandia. The Primary class of the church school will sing the hymn, "He Loves Me Too." Rev. Roland L. Showalter will preach upon the topic "Temple Building."

Young people of the church will meet at 6:30 p. m. for their regular meeting. Topic for the evening will be "Christian Patriotism."

First Presbyterian Services Listed

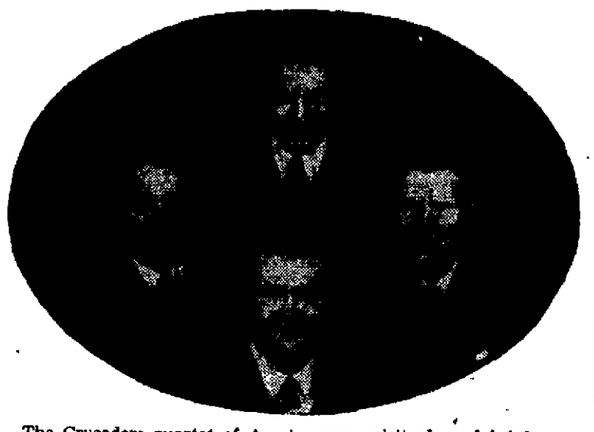
Rev. David N. Roller, pastor of the First Presbyterian church will use "God's Infinite Concern" as his sermon topic at 10:45 a. m. worship services tomorrow.

Miss Doris Ranck will sing the offertory solo, "The Earth Is the Lord's" by Lynes, the choir anthem is "I Am Alpha and Omega" by Stainer. Miss Mabel Zehner will play three organ selections "The Procession" by Lucke, "Carillon" by Delmarter, and "Finale" by D'evry.

Guest Preacher To Be at Alliance

Jack Curry will be guest speaker for worship services at 3 p. m. tomorrow at Branch No. 2 of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, 278 North Main street. A program of special music has been arranged.

Give Musical Program Sunday



The Crusaders quartet of Asbury college will present a program of sacred music at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at the First United Brethren church. Their varied program will consist of favorite gospel songs, church hymns, negro spirituals and brief messages from each member of the group. The quartet has been presenting similar programs in midwestern cities each week-end. Quartet members are Gordon Bracken, Dean Coen, Dale McLain and Malcolm Kier.

VETERANS PAY TRIBUTE SUNDAY TO SOLDIER DEAD

Memorial Service to Be Held At Grace Episcopal Church In Morning Program.

Veterans of all wars will join with the congregation of Grace Episcopal church service in a special memorial service Sunday at 10:45 a. m.

Members of all veterans' organizations and auxiliaries will march from Memorial Hall to the church. Families of men in the present war are invited to participate.

Rev. Glenn F. Lewis, rector, will preach on the topic, "In Worthy Remembrance." Louise Krause, organist, will play "Processional, Onward Ye Peoples!" by Sibelius and "Toccata and Fugue in D Minor" by Bach. Grace Church Men and Boy Choir will sing two anthems, "Recessional" by DeKovan, and "Souls of the Righteous" by Noble.

Young People of the parish will join in an outdoor Corporate Holy Communion in the rectory yard at 7 a. m. and a fellowship breakfast immediately afterwards in the church undercroft. In the afternoon they will join Episcopal young people of churches in the Mansfield region at a spring rally at Mohican State park.

Church school worship and instruction will be at 9:15 a. m. Pupils will bring their annual birthday offerings for presentation at this service.

Choir rehearsals will be Thursday at 4:15 and Saturday at 7:15.

Brotherhood Will Present Service Flag

The Men's Brotherhood of the First Methodist church will present a service flag to the church during the regular 10:30 worship service. The flag will bear a star for each member serving in the armed forces. Families of service men will be guests of honor.

Rev. E. G. Corwin will use "The Pursuit of Happiness" as his memorial sermon topic. Special music for the service will consist of the choir anthem, "Thanks Be to God" and a solo by James T. Weber entitled "God Shall Wipe Away All Tears."

Meeting at 6:30 p. m. tomorrow, the Epworth League will discuss "Understanding Those Who Fail" with Winifred Bauer as leader. Lester Flegal will be in charge of devotions.

Wade Pittenger will lead discussion of the topic, "Christianity and the Law," at the Wesley fellowship meeting at 7:30 p. m.

The Grace Guild circle will meet at 8 p. m. Monday, at the home of Mrs. Olan D. LaRue on the Wooster road.

St. Matthews Services Listed

Using "An Infinite God and Puny Man" as his sermon topic Rev. Charles F. Sheriff will preach at 10:30 a. m. worship services tomorrow at St. Matthew's Lutheran church. The offertory solo, "God's Acre" will be sung by William Gross.

Church activities scheduled next week are Luther league meeting, 6:30 p. m., Sunday; Martin Luther class meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Spence, 343 Wood street and the nutrition class at 7:30 p m., Wednesday in the parish house.

Sermon, Musical Numbers Announced

At the morning worship service of the First Congregational church Rev. Peter Young will preach on the subject, "When God is Not on Our Side." The choir, under the direction of A. LeMoine Derr, will sing "Choral" by Bach, and Miss Frances Carter will sing "Out of the Deep" by Marks. Services will be held at John Simpson auditorium.

Church school teachers and officers will entertain church school families Sunday evening. At 5 p. m. the class rooms will be open for inspection, after which Dr. Leonard Stidley, professor of religious education of Oberlin college, will speak on "Christian Guidance of Youth in the Home and Church." Members of the Women's association will assist with serving supper after the program. Mrs. Eloise Buchan, Mrs. H. E. Edwards and Mrs. R. F. Steinebrey are in charge of the arrangements.

The Flower Guild will meet at the Parish House Wednesday at 8 p. m.

Communion Service To Be Held Sunday

Holy Communion will be observed at the regular worship services of the South Main Street Evangelical church tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. Rev. E. E. Nietz of Columbus will conduct the Communion service and deliver the sermon.

Continuing his series of sermons based on the parables Rev. C. L. Kern, pastor of the church, will preach on "The Parable of the Pearl of Great Price" at the evening worship service at 7:30 p. m.

The last quarterly conference for this year will be held at 7:30 p. m., Monday at the church.

Other activities scheduled during the week are orchestra practice, 7 p. m., Monday; choir rehearsal, 7:30 p. m., Wednesday; prayer meeting and Bible study, 7:30 p. m., Thursday; and administrative council meeting, 8:30 p. m., Thursday.

Church Marks 2 Observances

Both Children's Day and Student's Day will be observed tomorrow morning at the Central Methodist church when two special programs will be presented in the upper auditorium.

Beginning at 9:15 a. m., the Children's Day program is in charge of Mrs. H. D. Bishop, superintendent of the Beginners' department and Mrs. Ray Paulson, primary department head. The Junior choir, directed by Mrs. Claude Ewing will sing.

Following the children's program Student Day will be observed with the presentation of a pageant directed by Miss Virginia Jenkins. Rev. R. L. Foulke, pastor, will conduct baptismal services and receive new members.

Church Dedicates Service Flag Sunday

First Christian church will dedicate a service flag Sunday at 9:30 a. m. for 35 boys who are in the service of our country. The flags will be presented by Mrs. J. D. Wilcox and received by Sgt. W. D. Hallum. Glenn L. Bierly will make the address.

Banners will be presented to parents of the boys by W. W. Hammett and Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger will give the prayer of dedication. Three families in the church have two boys in the service, Robert and Alfred Riland, Edward and Paul Kipp and Hubert and Dallas Rice.

Sunday morning Rev. Hagelbarger will preach on the theme "A Gospel for Difficult Days" and the choir will sing "Ho, Everyone That Thirsteth" by MacFarlane. The special organ numbers played by Mrs. H. H Clingan will be "Andante Cantibile" by Tschaikowski and March from "Rienzi" by Wagner.

Ruth Circle class will meet in the home of Mrs. Sherman Stone, 312 Sheridan avenue, Tuesday evening of this week.

The 91st state convention of Christian Churches of Ohio will be at Columbus May 25, 26 and 27.

Speakers will include Dr. W. A. Shullenberger, president of the International Convention of Christian churches, Dr. R. H. Miller, Editor of the Christian Evangelist of St. Louis, Mo, Dr. M. S. Bates, of the University of Nanking, China and Miss Margaret Applegarth of New York city. Those attending from the local church are Mrs. J. D. Wilcox, Mrs. W. J. Tappan, Mrs. O. F. Shivley, Mrs. Eva Leppo, Mrs. J. C. Robinson, Mrs. Edward Horn, Rev. and Mrs. B. F. Hagelbarger.

Senior High Choir To Give Concert

Mansfield Senior high a cappella choir of 100 voices will present a program in First Lutheran church Sunday at 8 p. m. under the direction of A. LeMoine Derr.

The program closes the choir's fourth year and introduces the first in an annual series of spring concerts open to the public.

All churches in the city have been informed of the concert by the Mansfield Ministerial association and have also received mailed invitations from the Choir Parents association.

The choir will supplement a program of familiar a capella numbers with two patriotic arrangements by Fred Waring, "This Is My Country" and "America, My Wondrous Land."

Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor of the church, will speak on the subject, "Universal Music."

Program numbers include three by Noble Cain, "Music of Life," "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho," and "Dark Water"; two by Christiansen, "From Heaven Above," and "Beautiful Saviour," and "Jesus Our Lord We Adore Thee," Will James.

'Beauty From Ashes', Topic of Sermon

Rev. Albert L. Linder, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will use "Beauty from Ashes" as his sermon subject at 10:30 a. m. worship services tomorrow.

Organ selections played by Lawrence Frank include "To Spring" by Grieg, Handel's "Where'er You Walk" and "March in D" by Rebikoff. The senior choir anthem is entitled "Send Out Thy Spirit" by Schuetky and George Lake and Mrs. Lawrence Frank will sing a duet, "Love Divine, All Love Excelling," by Stainer.

Additional services and meetings scheduled are Baptist Youth fellowship and Young Adult fellowship, 6:30 p. m., and an organ recital by Gatty Sellers at 8 p. m., both Sunday; Earnest Workers class meeting at the home of Mrs. H. F. Balliet, 468 Wayne street, at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, with Mrs. Harvey Myers as associate hostess; junior choir rehearsal, 4 p. m. Wednesday, prayer meeting, 7:30 p. m. Thursday, and senior choir practice, 7:30 p. m. Friday.

'Soul and Body,' Topic of Sermon

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in the Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday. It will have for the Golden Text: "Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope thou in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God" (Psalms 42:11).

Communion To Be Administered Sunday

In celebration of Pentecost Sunday St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church will observe Holy Communion at worship services tomorrow at 10:30 a. m.

Taking his theme from the book of Malachi, Rev. Paul H. Saleste will preach the sermon entitled "In Every Place Is Sacrifice." The choir anthem is entitled "Unfold Ye Portals Everlasting."

Activities scheduled during the week include Ladies Aid, 2 p. m, Thursday, in charge of Miss Bertha Ruess; official board meeting, 7:30 p. m. Thursday, in charge of Charles Finfgeld; and choir rehearsals in charge of John F. Klinger, Friday, junior choir at 6:30 p. m. and senior at 7:30.

Pentecost Service To Be Held Sunday

Pentecost Sunday will be observed at St. Mark's Lutheran church tomorrow with the confirmation of a class of young people during the worship service at 10:30 a. m.

Rev. C. A. Portz' sermon for the service is entitled "Making a Name for Yourself" and is based on Philippians 2:1-11. The choir will sing the anthem "Holy Spirit Truth Divine" by Nevin.

The Children's church program will also be held at 10:30 a. m. in the basement of the church. Choir rehearsal will be held at 7:30 p. m., Wednesday.

CAMACHO SAYS MEXICO IN WAR

tifiable as had been the Potrero del Llano.

Camacho called his cabinet into session. It was an historic session because Mexico has not formally been at war since 1847, and then it was with the United States, now one of Mexico's closest friends.

Informed quarters believed that military and economic collaboration between Mexico and the United States—already impressive—would be "immeasurably quickened."

Labor leaders and newspapers have clamored for a declaration of war since the Potrero del Llano was sunk, and 14 members of her crew were lost. The sinking of the Faja de Oro cost the lives of 28 men, the petroleum administration announced, though survivors said at Key West, Fla., that only 10 were missing.

It was estimated that seizure of Axis property would involve $50,000,000 in German investments and $2,000,000 each in Japanese and Italian investments.

Says Sub Commander Saw Ship's Flags

KEY WEST, Fla. —(INS)— Applauding the Mexican president's declaration that a state of war exists, Capt. Ramon Sanchezmena of the torpedoed tanker Faja de Oro today said a submarine commander sank his ship knowing it was Mexican.

Four large Mexican flags were painted on the sides of the vessel, and she flew a 9 by 5 foot flag from her stern, when the sub torpedoed and shelled her, the captain explained, adding that his ship was not blacked out as is the case with belligerents.

The Faja de Oro was the second Mexican ship to be sunk by submarine action within ten days.

Leading Soviet Plane Builder Dies in Air Accident.

MOSCOW—(AP)—Matvei Shenkman, one of the Soviet Union's leading airplane builders, died in an air accident "in the performance of his duties," the council of peoples commissars announced today. Shenkman, who studied in the United States, was director of an important aircraft factory, the announcement said.

Plays Tomorrow

Gatty Sellars, world-famed descriptive organist of the Queen's Hall concerts in London, will present a program of organ selections at the Park Avenue Baptist church at 8 p. m. tomorrow. He will play six of his own compositions featuring his popular descriptive tone picture, "An Ocean Tempest." His concert tours have included performances in North and South America and European countries. Sellars comes here from a concert tomorrow afternoon at the Mt. Vernon Methodist church. The concert is open to the public.

were battling the invaders in the Mong Paid Liao, Mong Hai, Mong Lin, Taikao and Kongum areas. The Chinese made a surprise attack on the Japanese at Nawngkio, between Mandalay and Lashio on May 14, inflicting more than 300 casualties and destroying four armored cars.

The Chinese recaptured Loshan, 40 miles east of the Japanese base on Sinyang on May 17. The Japanese retreated westward.

Allied Bombers Rip Two Ships, 13 Planes

(By United Press)

MELBOURNE — United States and Australian bombing planes have damaged a Japanese tanker, crippled a troop transport, smashed at least 13 enemy planes and rained destruction on docks, shipping and airdrome installations in daring raids on Japan's two great northeastern invasion bases, it was announced today.

They dived on the enemy invasion base at Lae, on the north coast of New Guinea, plastering the entire area with demolition and incendiary bombs, and hurled great bombs down on the Rabaul, New Britain, base in a high-level attack.

The Allied planes downed five out of eight of Japan's best fighter planes, navy-zeroes, which sought to intercept them over Lae, and one damaged plane fought off ferocious attacks by enemy planes on its return from the Rabaul raid.

Twice within 100 miles, the bomber of the Rabaul formation was attacked by the hornet-like navy-zeros.

Total casualties in the two raids were one rear gunner wounded.

A big troop transport was crippled and six heavy enemy bombers were badly damaged in a raid on Rabaul, in New Britain island.

The raid on Lae was the second in 24 hours. In the previous raid two Japanese bombers and a fighter plane were destroyed, two bombers were extensively damaged and three challenging fighters were shot down.

Reports of the crippling of a tanker and a troop transport apparently meant that enemy forces were re-assembling, after their Coral sea defeat, for a new invasion thrust.

Claim Collapse of Kharkov Attacks

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts) —(AP)— The German high command announced today that the Russian mass attacks on Kharkov had collapsed completely and military quarters added that German troops have shifted to the offensive in the gigantic battle for the Russian city.

On the northwestern front, the German high command added, the Russians were continuing attacks southeast of Lake Ilmen but without success.

A Vichy broadcast recorded by the British news agency Reuters also said a powerful German counterattack had thrown Russian troops back to their original positions on the Kharkov front.

RAF Rips Sub Base, Renews Offensive

LONDON —(AP)— Vast squadrons of the RAF swept to the offensive across the English channel in daylight today after another night attack on the Nazi submarine nest at St. Nazaire.

Observers at Folkestone said the fliers sped out at such height their only visible signs were vapor trails high in the sky. These soon were joined by others in intricate, winding patterns which meant, the watchers said, that German fighters were offering resistance.

The night attacks, which included mine-laying operations in enemy waters, were announced by the air minist

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, MAY 23, 1942.

Drive carefully tomorrow—and make 40 miles an hour your speed maximum.

Do you get a "kick" out of a letter from a fellow at the front? He probably gets ten times as big a kick out of yours.

Registration for the 18-Year-Olds

TO COMPLETE registration of potential manpower in the United States, President Roosevelt has proclaimed Tuesday, June 30, as the date for enrollment of young men in the 18-19 age range.

This is to include those who reach the age of 18 by registration day and others up to the age of 20 who have not previously registered—so that all men from 18 and 65 years of age will be listed.

It is announced that there is no present intention of applying selective service to young men under the age of 20 but it is considered important to have a record of all who are approaching that age—in the event of greater need arising.

Unless it is remembered that much of the nation's "manpower" during the Civil war was provided by younger boys, 18 seems a tender age at which to turn the thoughts of youth toward possible, or even probable, military service.

But it is only in the United States that there has been neglect of some form of early discipline designed to acquaint boys with the fundamentals of army life, and the present speedy action seems designed to correct that condition as rapidly as possible.

President Roosevelt warned again yesterday against over-optimism in thinking that the war is near an end. It continues as his belief that the war will be a long, hard one.

In any event, that is the kind that must be prepared for, and it is in planning ahead two, three, or even more years, that registration of boys who have reached the age of 18 is to be carried through.

Salary Increase for Teachers

DECISION by the Mansfield board of education that school finances are sufficient to warrant a moderate increase in teachers' salaries will be gratifying to everyone interested in maintaining the high standards of this city's public school system.

As in some other vocations, compensation in the teaching profession is not ordinarily commensurate with the qualifications required, nor can salary adjustments be readily made to conform with increasing living costs, expense of gaining additional education, and the like.

Opportunities for greater earnings in other lines of work have tended to attract some capable persons from the ranks of teachers, and insofar as possible, this should be avoided, although many men and women willingly make financial sacrifices in order to continue in a vocation in which they feel that they are in position to exercise a life-long influence for good on young people with whom they come in contact in the schools.

Much is expected of teachers, and others who are associated with a school system in a supervisory capacity. Great confidence is placed in those who are entrusted with the guidance of the city's children. It is regrettable that confidence is occasionally misplaced—and that this unfairly reflects on others—but, in the main, there can be no doubt that an unusually large percentage of those engaged in school work measure up to the high standards established for this profession.

Mansfield is justly proud of its public school system, and on many occasions the voters have shown willingness to provide adequate financial support. This will undoubtedly extend to widespread sanction of the school board's action in granting salary increases to teachers, supervisors and principals.

Memorial Sunday Service

CUSTOM has established observance of the Sunday preceding Memorial day as an occasion for a special church service, under auspices of veterans' organizations, as a tribute to those who served their nation in times of war or gave their lives for their country.

Tomorrow will be observed as Memorial Sunday and all veterans, auxiliaries and service men at home on furlough, are being asked to attend a special service at Grace Episcopal church at 10:45 a. m. This service will also be open to the public to the extent of church capacity.

As the first Memorial period since this country has again become engaged in war, tomorrow and the coming week, leading through to Memorial day observance next Saturday, take on added significance and solemnity. Church attendance tomorrow will provide many with the spiritual uplift needed to meet present difficulties and to look with greater confidence toward what now seems a dark future.

Military Drill for Youth Group

ANOTHER valuable community service is being instituted by McVey post, American Legion, through plans getting under way to provide fundamental military drill for Mansfield youths in the 16 to 19 age group, with periodic physical examinations of participants.

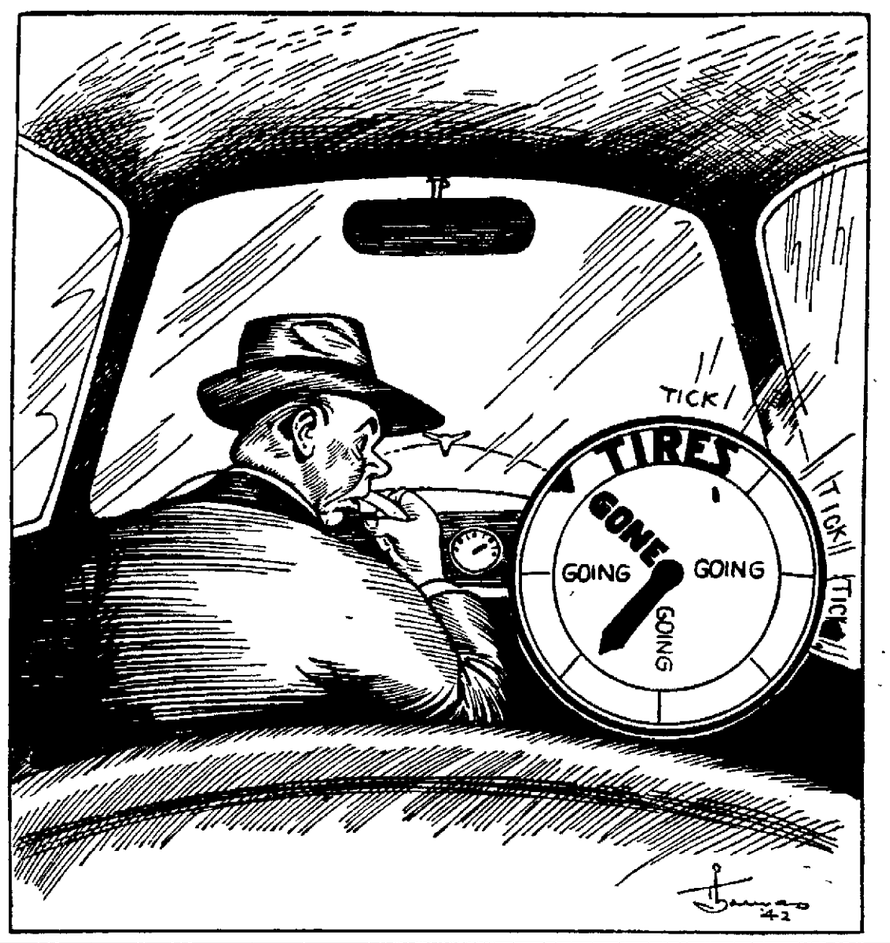
Whether the future will require military or civilian service from these boys, the benefits of discipline, training and physical upbuilding that may be expected to result from such drilling can scarcely be overestimated and the American Legion is to be commended for taking the initiative in this worthwhile project.

It is being made clear that this cadet organization is entirely a local activity, not identified with the army, and that officers of the unit will be chosen from inside the organization, with a special committee serving in a supervisory capacity.

Plans contemplate modern methods of drill and infantry training for boys above the age of 16 who are not yet eligible to call for military duty, and it is believed that knowledge thus gained will be of great value, in the event of later induction, and also in better acquainting them with the nation's military set-up and the responsibilities of American citizenship.

The attention of parents who have boys within the specified age range is directed to this opportunity, with suggestion that it be investigated and given thoughtful consideration.

A RUBBER METER MIGHT HELP



Villages In Russian War News

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

ABOUT 90 per cent of the reports we get from the world's various war areas can't possibly mean much to the average reader.

For one thing, they conflict, depending on which side emits 'em.

We may have a broad general idea of what's going on, on a large scale, but accounts are too mixed up to make sense in detail. Illustratively, it's obvious that the Nazis must be having serious trouble on their Russian front, or they wouldn't have been tied up there so long. The results of specific engagements are a mere matter of guesswork, though, to folk as far away as we are.

We never even heard of the towns around which a lot of the fighting's raging. Their names don't figure in any gazetteer. No modern map indicates 'em.

Suppose we were pulling off a war in this country and we were to broadcast information concerning the outcome of a fierce encounter in the outskirts of some little Podunk, consisting of one general store, half a block of houses in each direction from the main crossroads, a lone church and 214 population.

How much significance would that victory or defeat have to listeners-in in remote parts of Europe or Asia or Madagascar—people without the slightest notion of the berg's geography; unable even correctly to pronounce its name, "Podunk"?

Many Are Hamlets.

That's the kind of wee hamlets we see and hear mentioned in connection with the scrapping in the Caucasus, Burma and similar far-off areas.

It happens that I'm familiar with approximately half a dozen words in Chinese.

One of 'em is "shan."

O. K. You're read about Jap-Chinese activities in the "shan states."

Seeking enlightenment, I've asked a number of our publicity dispensers, "What, please, do you mean by the 'shan states'?"

To this query, the publicityites have answered, pityingly, because of my ignorance, "We mean the states, or provinces, that the Shan mountains criss-cross."

Well, shan is Chinese for mountains.

To refer to the Shan mountains is equivalent to saying, the "mountains mountains."

It's like failing to draw a distinction between the Alleghenies and the Rockies.

Wide Room for Error.

In eastern China is the Khingan Shan. Twelve or fifteen hundred miles to the westward is the Kunlun Shan. There's quite a bit of room for inaccuracies of reckonings if both these shans are regarded as one and the same range.

The Chinese recognize the difference.

They have two provinces—Shantung and Shansi.

You see 'em differentiated.

"Tung" means east. "Shan"—east of the mountains. "Si" means west—west of the mountains. This refers to the Khingan Shan. The Kunluns are on the western border; therefore don't divide in two.

Time is all shot full of holes likewise.

Things have happened tomorrow, over on our other north-and-south hemisphere, that aren't on record until OUR today.

The fact is that we ordinary folk don't know what's going on or when.

We talked about last war as a world war.

This one's the real thing.

It's round-and-round the globe and up-and-down it, and it includes places we never heard from before and never'll hear from again.

Listen World!

Keeping the Faith

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

FOUR MONTHS in bed gives you a lot of time to think. And some of the thoughts aren't so easy to take. Past you they march, all the silly and cruel and wasteful things you've done . . . the opportunities for kindness and cooperation that you've missed . . . the burdens you might have lifted, but didn't.

Past you they file, the jeering memories that shatter your conceit. But if you can face them honestly, you'll come out of it with a whole new set of values, a new viewpoint on life.

I know, for I'm just finishing four months in bed and it wasn't any game of checkers. There I lay, reading of the thousands of brave boys who are going out to battle for America, of the fathers and mothers whose hearts are being crucified that this land may be saved. And there was I, doing nothing.

There was I, doing nothing. And it came to me how many of us are saying that these days, reading of heroic feats, wasting our time regretting, feeling that our own small, misspent destinies do not count. But they can and they do count! There is something we all can do, no matter where we live or what our position—

WE CAN KEEP THE FAITH!

The faith of America isn't confined to a written code. It's something you can't put into words. It's a certain distinct attitude toward your home and your job and the other fellow. It's a dream more than a philosophy, the finest dream that has ever come to men. Few of us have ever lived up to it, yet we feel its glory moving through us. Our boys are fighting for that glory in Australia today, they are fighting for its throughout the world.

Reading the news as it comes to us from afar, it all seems part of a splendid pageant. But it isn't. It's each man fighting for the dream that's in him, "keeping the faith" which we call America by countless small and often seemingly trivial acts of courage and sacrifice . . . keeping the faith you can't name and can't describe. Yet, there they are, our brothers and sons and husbands, fighting like hellions to guard the dream that burns in them.

And it's our duty as much as theirs to keep that same faith here at home . . . to do our common chores a little better . . . to be a little kinder, a little more tolerant, a little less impatient.

For that was how our land was founded—not by heroic feats, but by a stubborn belief in a better world . . . a stubborn struggle to establish that world in unmapped wildernesses. The General MacArthurs are few and far between but the impulse that drives Bill Jones to clean up the old woodshed and mend the kitchen door and help little Bobby build his scooter, that impulse is identical with the faith which drove MacArthur to his glorious stand . . . and created America.

THESE SEEM LIKE OLD-FASHIONED WORDS AS I WRITE THEM. MOST OF US HAVE GROWN SO PROUD AND AMBITIOUS THAT THE COMMON THINGS DIDN'T COUNT, YET THEY ARE ALL THAT DO COUNT. THEY'RE THE THINGS WHICH YOU AND I MUST MAINTAIN AGAINST THE FORCES OF EVIL. COMMON THINGS, WELL DONE, COMMON THINGS HAPPILY SHARED—THESE MADE AMERICA . . . THESE MUST BE SAVED!

Big Job Well Done.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson pays a deserved tribute to the teachers of the nation for the work they have done in registering the rest of us for sugar rationing. There were other volunteer registrars, and all served without thought of pay.

"The primary credit, of course, goes to the school teachers because they accepted the heaviest burden," says Mr. Henderson. "No other group in the country could have handled the job so efficiently and so splendidly."—New York Sun.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Gas Rationing Cuts Auto Traffic; Nation-Wide Extension Probable

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

THE EAST'S Sunday driver climbed into his porch swing instead of his auto last week-end and put in his time wishing he was one of the lucky guys in the non-rationed, gasoline producing territory.

But the "lucky guys," even those with gasoline wells in their very backyards, may soon be taking to the porch swings too.

Even before automobile owners in the 19 states now rationed had become accustomed to having their cards punched, the War Production board asked that plans be drafted for nation-wide rationing, beginning probably on July 1.

There was gasoline to burn in some sections. But the WPB had heard that American motorists are burning up rubber at the rate of 250,000 pounds a day. And there isn't rubber to burn in any section.

That would be the prime reason for universal rationing; the saving of rubber that many war workers need and will continue to need to get to their jobs each day. But the reduction of oil shipments to central and western states also would free transportation facilities for hauling gas and oil to the dry east.

There, rationing really cleared the roads. From Cape Cod, Mass., where transient traffic on a fine spring Sunday was "below normal even for a mid-winter day," all the way through the rationed area to Florida, the decrease was evident.

Horse-drawn buggies made their appearance in several sections.

At Home

Doolittle Did Much.

"Why, that's the guy," said most readers when they saw the name, "who did a handstand on a windowsill and fell and broke both ankles. Yeah, then stunted a demonstration plane with his legs in casts. That's the guy."

Jimmy Doolittle, the "flying hellion," the "space murderer" of the 20's and 30's, was in the news again.

The balding, slight-figured, 45-year-old brigadier general stood at rigid attention, eyes blinking, as President Roosevelt pinned the Congressional Medal to his tunic.

Then he answered reporters' questions about leading the Tokyo bombing mission for which he received the medal. It was unexpectedly successful, he reported. The B-25 medium bombers, specially-equipped, flew at housetop level except when dropping bombs, climbed then to 1,500 feet. Targets hit included a nearly completed Japanese cruiser or battleship, an airplane factory, a fuel tank farm, ammunition dumps. The bomber crews—79 men received Distinguished Service Crosses — were trained for the mission in the U. S.

Sufficiently Vindicated?

The Citizens Committee to Free Earl Browder has dissolved.

Browder, sentenced 14 months ago to serve four years in prison for passport fraud, was released by President Roosevelt who, a White House statement said, believed the "principle of obedience to the law has been sufficiently vindicated."

The statement added that commuting the sentence of the former general secretary of the Communist party in the U. S., would allay any feeling that the "unusually long sentence" was a penalty for his political views and that it would tend "to promote national unity."

Some congressmen disagreed with the latter view. Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R., N. J.) asserted the commutation was proof that "the New Deal is garroted by Communists."

Taxes Up, Wheat Down.

Income taxpayers scraping up money for their June 15th installment were reminded from Washington that next year's payment dates would mean an even heavier outlay.

The house ways and means committee approved an increase in the normal income tax rate from 4 per cent to 6 per cent, along with hiked surtaxes. The two would bring 2¾ billion dollars in new revenue.

In the senate, a bitter dispute in the ordinarily happy farm states family preceded a vote on sale of feed grains and 125,000,000 bushels of wheat at 85 per cent of corn parity prices. Corn state senators howled loudly that dropping wheat prices below parity would bring corn down too. But the vote tentatively approved sales of government stocks of feeding grains at the sub-parity level.

Abroad

Another Front?

Pained expressions coming out of Berlin during the week were proof enough that Marshal Timoshenko had out-foxed the foxy Adolf Hitler. Dispatches from the German capital showed that he had raised havoc with Germany's plan to send huge German forces rolling toward the oil of the Caucasus from at least three directions in southern Russia.

Germans had something new to worry about besides Timoshenko early in the week when the U. S. and Britain disclosed that a huge new convoy of American soldiers landed at Northern Ireland.

Significantly, perhaps, it was disclosed that they had with them plenty of tanks and artillery, tools for offensive fighting. The convoy was the largest American one yet to reach the British Isles, and President Roosevelt implied that more were to come.

The landing brought a new chorus of demands that a second front be opened in Europe to relieve the strain on Russia.

No Confidence.

Pierre Laval, chief of the Vichy government, blustered and spluttered about the United States' negotiations with Admiral Georges Robert at Martinique, tried to horn in, insisted that Vichy could not agree to U. S. "demands."

Washington was quiet. The United States was dealing only with Admiral Robert, high commissioner for Martinique and the other New World French territories, Guadeloupe and French Guiana.

Then, after several days, Chairman Connally (D., Tex.) of the senate foreign relations committee announced that "a satisfactory agreement" with Admiral Robert had been obtained. The agreement would immobilize French merchant ships and warships at Martinique.

Laval's earlier observation that "my presence in the French government does not exactly appear to inspire the entire confidence of the Washington government" seemed to have been borne out.

Axis Morale.

"Just how bad do you suppose things really are in Germany and Italy?"

The question, a conversation favorite for months in the United States, finally has been answered in detail and by men who know.

Things are bad.

The story came from AP newspapermen, on their way home after a five-month internment in the Axis countries.

Things are bad, they reported, but not bad enough to expect internal collapse or revolt in either country.

People

Dr. Kildare, U. S. Army.

At a Portland, Ore., induction center, girl clerks giggled and pestered a bronzed, grinning inductee for autographs.

Lew Ayres, Dr. Kildare of the movies, had come into town from a conscientious objectors' camp to go into the army—but not to fight.

Ayres, who made it plain he was still an objector, had requested non-combat service. His draft board recommended he be assigned to duty in the medical corps.

Two Happy People.

Back at Camp Stewart, Ga., after a 10-mile march culminating a two-day tactical exercise, two men wore wider grins than all the rest.

One was the camp commander, Brig.-Gen. Earl H. Metzger. To prove that he, too, could take it, he borrowed a full 50-pound pack and a rifle from one of the privates, toted it the full 10 miles.

The other grinner was the private who had swapped his pack and rifle for a swagger stick.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Frank Case of the Algonquin brings up an interesting point. "Do writers," he asks, "resent thank-you notes when they say something nice about you?"

Frank Case is a renowned host. His hotel is a landmark in theatrical history. Actors have always made the Algonquin peculiarly their own. John Barrymore used to live there. Jim Tully, Judith Anderson and hundreds more would stay nowhere else. All this came up because of one of Barrymore's raving testimonials to Case's generosity. I printed it some time ago. When Frank saw it, he dropped me a nice little note. Later, I ran into him on an interview in the Algonquin's luncheon room, and it was then that he asked, "Do writers resent thank-you notes when they say nice things about you?"

THE item in question went something like this. Barrymore, while raving over Case's generosity to a friend, became slightly apoplectic in his endeavors to do Frank justice. "Why," he cried, grabbing his shirt front, "this is Frank's SHIRT. . . . He'll give you ANYTHING!"

Case's note to me had joshingly disclaimed any such untoward generosity but added that he did own an extra dinner jacket and should I ever be caught in town without one he'd be glad to oblige, etc. It was a laugh, intended as nothing more.

I should add here that Frank Case has written three books out of his observations as a professional inn-keeper, and from time to time he has written polite notes of appreciation to certain reviewers of his acquaintance for the things they said of his literary efforts.

IT IS my opinion that notes of this sort are all right and make for pleasant feeling, though no writer worth his salt is influenced one way or another by them.

He writes what he thinks, and if his judgment is mature subsequent events will bear him out. If not, the reading public will quickly learn for themselves whose opinions are worthwhile and whose are not. I once knew a reviewer who bitterly resented a thank-you note from an author whose book he had praised. He bluntly told the author, "My praise was for what you wrote, not for you. It doesn't matter to me whether you are pleased with what I say or not."

This, of course, was exceptional, and on the whole an obtuse point of view. It was certainly uncalled for. The fact of the matter is, thank-you notes can hurt no one, and certainly no one can write them better than Frank Case.

Quotes

Herbert Hoover declares President Roosevelt must be given dictatorial economic powers to win the war but adds: "Criticism of the conduct of the war is necessary. The American people have always been a debating society."

Gil Robb Wilson, president of the National Aeronautical association: "There will be such a movement of humanity over the world (after the war) as has never before been known. An airplane with a dozen glider trailers attached will provide a poor man's type of transportation."

Headliner: Soldier In Skirts

IN TEXAS they call her What-A-Woman Hobby.

As a socialite who was not content simply with marrying an ex-governor and raising two youngsters, Oveta Culp Hobby darted headlong into such activities as these:

She became a reporter and then co-publisher of a Houston newspaper . . . she served as a radio executive . . . she was a bank director.

On the legal side she became an expert parliamentarian for the Texas house of representatives and wrote a textbook on the subject.

Socially, she was a live-wire Junior Leaguer, promoted a symphony orchestra, organized women's clubs, served as a director of the Houston Museum of Fine Arts.

Then last July she walked out on this life for even more bustle. She went to Washington, to the he-mannish war department, to serve as a liaison between the generals and the women of America. Specifically her job was to interpret the army to women.

After Pearl Harbor, America's women, full of pep and pugnacity, began clamoring for a chance to take a crack at the enemy. Upshot was the recent creation of the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps. Ultimately 150,000 women will be able to join. While they won't be able to shoot up the enemy they'll get to the fronts as typists, telephone operators, clerks, laboratory technicians, messengers and pharmacists.

The woman the generals picked to head up the WAAC was the vivacious Mrs. Hobby, who looks swell in both frills and uniforms. Two outstanding characteristics helped her get the job: an ability to work with women, and ability to work with men. Her rank will be equivalent at least to a major.

Director Hobby's fellow officers in WAAC (they'll be called "assistant directors" and "leaders," not captains and lieutenants) will be trained at a "West Point for Women" at Fort Des Moines, Ia.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

GARDEN STUDY CLUB HAS SPRING MUSICALE

Group Also Dedicates Trees and Shrubs at Junior High School; Mrs. W. A. Moeller Is Guest of Honor.

IN AN IMPRESSIVE dedication ceremony at John Simpson high school early Friday afternoon, the Mansfield Garden Study club presented trees and shrubs to the school. Entire student body participated in the ceremony. After the group had sung "The Star "The Star Spangled Banner," Dale Patterson and Gerry Bishop, flag bearers, placed the emblems in their standards. The girls' quartet of the school sang two numbers which were followed by a song by the ensemble.

First planting was made possible by the Margaret Moeller award which was received last year by the Mansfield Garden Study group. The president, Mrs. Charles Birch, made the presentation. Principal Harry Dotson accepted on behalf of the school. Mrs. Birch also introduced Mrs. William A. Moeller of Macedonia, president of the Garden club of Ohio, who urged the pupils to plant victory gardens and to take an interest in junior gardening.

From the school the club members went to the Central Methodist church for the spring musicale given by them for all garden clubs of Mansfield and for invited guests. Approximately 100 were in attendance. The colorful garden setting presented a cheery atmosphere. In addition to the indoor garden, there were many attractive floral arrangements around the room.

In the absence of the program chairman, Mrs. Herman Bishop, Mrs. E. C. Jenkins announced the program. Mrs. R. L. Foulke opened with a short prayer. Enjoyable musical selections were furnished by Mrs. Daisy Gibson, violinist, Mrs. Mary Anglin, vocalist and Miss Thelma Reed, pianist. Solos by Mrs. Gibson and Mrs. Anglin were accompanied by Miss Reed, who also played a solo. A number also was played by the group as a trio.

Mrs. Moeller, president, and Mrs. Louis J. Ott, recording secretary for the state organization, were introduced by Mrs. Birch. After interesting comments by Mrs. Moeller, guest of honor for the day, tea was served from a table attractively decorated with purple iris and lemon yellow lilies. Mrs. Milton Doolittle and Mrs. Ott presided at the table.

Several committees were responsible for the success of the musicale. Chairman of the refreshments committee was Mrs. O. H. McDaniel, who was assisted by Mrs. Clarence Lisle and Mrs. George Hout. Mrs. R. R. Martin was publicity chairman. Guests were welcomed at the door by Mrs. D. E. Patterson and Mrs. A. J. Barker. Arrangement for the tea table was in charge of Mrs. E. C. Jenkins and the following created the effective decorations: Mrs. L. E. Strain, chairman, Mrs. Hout, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Patterson and Mrs. R. K. Clark. The program was planned by Mrs. Bishop.

Service Flag Dedicated by Moose Lodge

Dedication of a service flag measuring six feet by eight feet in honor of members of the Moose lodge who are in the army, navy and marine corps, took place at the lodge hall last night. The flag was furnished by the Mansfield organization and was made by Mrs. Myrtle Clements and Mrs. Margaret Daugherty, members of the war relief committee of the Women of the Moose.

Edward Wylie had charge of planning the program and acted as master of ceremonies. After the group sang "America," short talks were given by Mrs. Clements and Paul Ritchie, past president of the lodge. Mrs. Daisy Rothschild of New Washington gave two readings, "Barbara Frietchie," which she presented first in English, then in German dialect, "A Letter From His Mother."

"God Bless America" and several Scotch songs were sung by Miss Mary McCartney. Musical salute was played by Ira Metcalf and his orchestra. Impersonating Harry Lauder, William McCartney, who was dressed in kilts, played a violin solo and sang some Scotch songs.

Meeting Held By Circle Two

Circle Two of the First Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. D. W. Fankhauser, Piper road, with 17 members and three guests present. Guests were Mrs. Andrew Heidinger, Mrs. Nettie Pittenger and Mrs. E. G. Stelzer. Mrs. Samuel Craig led devotions.

Program was in charge of Mrs. A. E. Plank, who was assisted by several of the members. Refreshments were served and a social time was enjoyed. Mrs. E. E. Quick and Mrs. Plank were associate hostesses. Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. C. Arbaugh, 172 Lexington avenue, on June 18.

INJURED IN FALL

WILLARD—Mrs. Roy Tanner received word Tuesday that her mother, Mrs. Anna Price, 87, of Uniontown, O., had broken her hip in a fall. Mrs. Price is well known here, having spent several winters with her daughter. She is in Martins Ferry hospital.

Mother-Daughter Banquet Given By Societies

Mother-Daughter banquet of the Women's Missionary societies of the United Brethren church was served in the church parlors recently with 130 members and guests in attendance. Decorations consisted of flowers and a red, white and blue color scheme.

Toast to the mothers was given by Peggy Holmes. Mrs. R. Holmes responded with a toast to the daughters. A poem was read by Mary Ann Chronister after which Carol Jeanne Coder gave a poem, "Mama's Lap." Song, "Memories of Mother," was sung by the societies. Mrs. L. Hutzelman gave the scripture reading and prayer was offered by Mrs. J. Miller.

Stories of "Mothers of Many Lands" were given by Mrs. Lois Hoover, Miss Vera Yohn, Miss Katherine Stevenson, and Mrs. Jane McBride. Mrs. Hutzelman presented "Recognition of the Mothers." The anthem was sung by the women's chorus. After "The Mother Watch," by Miss Mildred Strome, a duet was sung by Mrs. D. Kunkel and Mrs. W. Brown. Program closed with the benediction.

Rose bowls were presented as gifts to the following: Mrs. David Stoner, oldest mother; Mrs. Robert Schrewsberry, youngest mother; Mrs. L. J. Hopper, wife of the former minister; and Mrs. James Boyer, wife of the pastor.

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, May 24.

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds augury of fairly active and productive conditions, which may prove decidedly constructive if pursued with resourcefulness, energy and fresh ideas. Important projects may get a good start for further development if properly launched and with assistance or decisive co-operation of influential personages.

Those whose birthday it is may have a fairly active and enterprising year with new and important projects receiving a moderate degree of impetus from skillful preparation of proper plans and constructive programs. The latter may call for the agreement or corroboration of influential persons, and may not be so sure of public assistance or approval. Much depends on personal effort.

A child born on this day should have much practical talent and initiative with enterprise, resourcefulness and constructive ability and skill for success.

For Monday, May 25.

Monday's astrological forecast is for a most propitious and progressive state of affairs, with all things of a public as well as private nature forging on to high goals of success and achievement. It may be a time to work for promotion, preferment and favors from those in high places.

Those whose birthday it is are urged to work with confidence and fidelity toward attaining their most ambitious and cherished objectives, with the friendly support and favors of relatives, superiors and those in power.

A child born on this day should have great ambitions, which may be furthered by loving relatives as well as powerful friends.

A. A. U. W. NOTICE.

Reservations for the tea to be given in honor of all high school girls who plan to enter college in the fall are to be made by A. A. U. W. members not later than Sunday evening. The tea will be given at the parish house of the First Congregational church, 514 Park avenue west, at 4 p. m. on Tuesday, May 26. Standing reservations do not apply for this affair. All members planning to attend are to call Mrs. Earl Gaar, 5277-6.

Club Meets With Mrs. Huston

Twenty-two members of the Johnny Appleseed Garden club were present for a meeting Friday at the home of Mrs. Henry Huston, Sturges avenue. Mrs. James Eberle illustrated her talk, "A Lesson in Botany," with drawings of trees. Two flower arrangements were created by Mrs. Carlton Fernyak.

There was also a special bouquet arranged by the hostess. Next meeting will be held June 5 at the Hartman farm with Mrs. Roger A. Black and Miss Louise Krause as hostesses. Program will be on "Conservation." Mrs. Charles Siegenthaler will be in charge of transplanting.

Guild Meeting Held at Church

Thirty-one members of St. John's Guild were present for the meeting at the church recently. Program was opened with a hymn and prayer by Rev. Paul Saleste. The 23rd psalm was spoken in unison. Two accordion solos were played by Miss Norma Touby. Ralph Minnich sang a number and also presented a duet with Mrs. Katherine Klinger.

Missionary topic was duscussed by Miss Bertha Ruess. Committee for the luncheon was comprised of Mrs. Arminta Collins, Mrs. Rose Crider and Mrs. Bertha Schroeder. Mrs. Klinger was program chairman for the meeting.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

AND I ALSO will keep quiet," I told Jack, smiling with an effort, for his tragic eyes tugged at my heartstrings and brought back the old sisterly affection I had had for him since our childhood together under my mother's watchful, loving care.

"I'll be right here," he said, turning away. "Please keep the door partly open, so it won't have to be closed more than once."

"I'll be right here," he said, standing erect by the door with his hand upon it. Then I hurried to the front of the car and spoke to Joe, the driver.

"The old man is asleep," I said. "When you start, will you ease the car along so that he will not be jolted? And—we will not try to make time going back. If we are back within three hours it will be all right. But if you have long stretches of smooth road and can make better time without jolting the old man, that will be all right."

"I can do it in three hours if I get stopped by traffic lights every mile of the way," he answered cocksurely, but I sensed that he really was not boasting, merely making a statement of which he was completely sure.

Will Drive Carefully.

"And don't worry about the old man being jolted," he went on. "He'll never know we're starting, and he can sleep all the way as easy as a baby in a crib."

"I knew you could manage it," I told him. "Just as soon as Gus comes back with the sanwwiches you may start. I've told Bill to follow us with the other car, and we're going straight back to the corner from which we started this morning."

"Okay," he said. "And will I be glad to get a sandwich!"

"So will I." I told him smiling. "Don't start until you have eaten it."

Then I went back to Jack, who helped me into the seat beside him and very quietly closed the car door.

I put sandwiches, cookies, crackers and a bottle of soft drink away for Professor Driswell, in case he should wake up, then Jack and I proved ourselves almost as good trenchermen as did Gus and Joe in the front seat.

Soon Joe, with infinite care and skill, started the big car, and we rolled away so easily that the old professor, sleeping on the rear seat, was not in the least disturbed or jolted.

Madge Fagged Out.

From the rear window I saw the big armored car of the gangsters following us, and with a sense of a mission completely accomplished I leaned back in my seat and closed my eyes.

It was after dark when we reached the street in Greenwich Village from which we had started in the morning.

As we drew up to the curb my father and one of the guards from the hideaway came up to the car.

"Tell me quickly, Margaret, what has happened," he said, "and why you had Dr. Twitchell bring me down here."

"I can't tell you that last thing till I see you alone," I told him. "But Dr. Twitchell's services will be needed. There are six gangsters in that other car, also a New England native and a state trooper who has taken shorthand notes of their conversation. Two of the gangsters are wounded."

Gives Spencer the News.

"Your set of petit point covered chairs?" my father asked, his lips quirking into a smile.

"Exactly," I returned, "and the best of it is that we brought them back here without anybody except our helpers knowing what had become of them."

I told him briefly of the telephone message the gangsters had tried to have us send out, but did not mention the unlisted number at the Lansfield, the discovery of which had so upset me. That must wait until we were alone.

"I gather the messages were not sent out," my father said.

"You gather correctly," I told him, with a flippancy that masked a desire to scream with the sheer tension of frayed nerves.

My father looked at me keenly. "You are all in," he said. "Dr. Twitchell must see you before anybody else. But tell me, who are these men with you? I suppose one of them is Professor Diswell. But who is the other?"

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

DO YOU WANT IT LED?

Always bear in mind that, when you bid a particular suit, there is a possibility that your partner may lead it if the opponent at your right ultimately becomes the declarer. Unless you are willing to have that suit led, or unless your hand is such that there is a pretty good likelihood of your side furnishing the declarer, such a bid may prove costly. By leading that suit, instead of the one which otherwise would be his natural lead, your partner may present a gift of some hundreds of points to the enemy.

	♠ 10 9 5 ♥ K 8 ♦ A J 9 5 3 ♣ A 10 6
♠ K Q 6 ♥ J 9 6 3 2 ♦ 10 7 6 4 ♣ 3	N. W. E. S.	♠ J 7 4 3 ♥ A Q 10 7 ♦ K Q 2 ♣ 7 5
	♠ A 8 2 ♥ 5 4 ♦ 8 ♣ K Q J 9 8 4 2

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♦	1 ♠	2 ♣
Pass	2 ♦	Pass	3 NT

Here was another one of those cases in which a smart cardsman takes advantage of the known mental habits of an opponent. Walter Beinecke bid as he bid in the South, while shooting for unorthodox top scores, solely because he knew West as a man who could be depended upon to lead his partner's suit.

West did exactly as expected, putting forth the spade K. When the dummy went down, the club A looked awful good to Mr. Beinecke, as it made his contract a sure thing. He took the first trick with his spade A and then ran seven clubs, followed by the diamond A for the ninth trick. If West had made his natural lead of the heart 3, the K would have been dropped and the opponents would have taken the first five tricks. Mr. Beinecke, therefore, stole a game, as 5-Clubs cannot be made.

Your Week-End Lesson.

When there is a possible finesse in some side suit which, if it succeeds, will enable you to take an extra trick, what are the main considerations in determining when you should decide to make the attempt or not?

Extraordinary inducements now are being made both by army and navy to attract volunteers from these age groups, especially for the air service. In some instances those who enlist in the reserves are allowed to complete high school.

Selective service officials informed the senate military affairs committee that it will be necessary to call persons with dependents the last of this year, if the army expansion program is carried out.

Nearly 40,000,000 men have registered in the previous four roll calls ordered by the president. But only those between 20 and 44, inclusive—an estimated 27,000,000 —are subject to military duty.

feel I am qualified to carry out the duties of the office."

Judge Kalbfleisch is serving his second term as municipal judge, having been re-elected in 1940. Before becoming municipal judge, he served two four-year terms as county prosecutor. He was born in Mansfield on Aug. 3, 1899, attended Mansfield public schools and graduated from Ohio Northern university in 1923.

Establishing law practice in Mansfield in 1924, Judge Kalbfleisch successfully sought the post of county prosecutor in 1928.

He said that he planned to continue his duties as chairman of the Mansfield civilian defense committee "unless my activities as a candidate make it impossible for me to carry out defense duties satisfactorily."

DOUBTS BAN TO HURT LEAGUES

Bramham Says Baseball Can Use Something Besides Buses.

DURHAM, N. C.—(AP)—W. G. Bramham, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, said today that banning the use of chartered buses after June 1 by the Office of Defense Transportation for the movement of players would not affect materially the minor league setup.

"Early in the year," he said, "many charter bus companies advised our clubs they would not be able to transport players due to losing tire priorities if they handled such business. Therefore many clubs made other arrangements before the start of the season."

RITES TODAY

MILLERSBURG—Funeral services for Abraham Yoder, 81, who died in the Holmes county home Thursday, will be held at the Hunter funeral home today. The body will be intered in the Mast cemetery near Benton.

flooded business sections of Carbondale, Olyphant, Archbald, Peckville and Blakely, north of Scranton, and Moosic, south of the city. The flood waters ranged from Carbondale, in northern Lackawanna county, to Pittston, in adjacent northern Luzerne county.

The floods resulted from a three-day downpour, much of it last night coming in cloudburst proportions.

Persons driven from their homes in Scranton found refuge in American Legion buildings and the army headquarters was also thrown open. The Red Cross sent 100 blankets to Dickson City, where many persons were forced from their homes.

A number of bridges were washed out and large oil tanks were carried downstream in Honesdale, a community of approximately 5,500 people.

MANSFIELD BUSINESS IN REVIEW

OHIO BOTTLERS VOLUNTEER AID FOR EMERGENCY

Bottling Firms Would Supply Water to Cities Hit By Sabotage.

Members of Mansfield bottling firms along with 275 other Ohio bottlers stand ready to offer their facilities to local defense councils throughout the state in the event that air raids or sabotage activities disrupt municipal water systems.

George Livingston, president of the Ohio Bottlers' association, capped last week's celebration of National Beverage week by emphasizing the extent to which the industry may participate in the home defense program by providing adequate water supplies for communities during emergencies.

Plans for such services were completed recently at a conference which leaders of the industry had with Courtney Burton, executive director of the state defense council. Burton, commenting upon the services made available by the bottlers, said:

"The association might be called upon to transport pure water to communities where the supply has been cut off by reason of enemy action."

Burton pointed out that the state defense council already had given consideration to plans for the emergency feeding in various communities, and that this program was closely linked with the facilities of the bottlers' association.

In addition, he said that thousands of fleet trucks will be made available for the transportation of water during such emergencies, as well as for the evacuation of civilians from bombed areas.

War's Restrictions Make Music Mansfield Fireside Companion

Mansfielders Turn to Smart's For Music Supplies.

The swing's to Swing and all other styles of music these days as restrictions clamped down on civilians have anchored Mansfielders to their homes more and more.

And with this swing to music, Mansfield residents are visiting Smart's Music Shop and Studios at 5 Park avenue west and 6 South Main street.

To meet this conversion to music on the part of hundreds of Mansfielders, Eugene Smart, director of the shop and studios, has established a new record and piano department.

A modern record department including a stock of all the latest recordings has been set up and part of the music shop has been remodeled to make room for a piano display room.

Private sound-proof booths have been installed for the convenience of those who want to hear various recordings played before making purchases.

Despite restrictions on the production of new records, Smart announces that a complete selection is available in the record department including the most popular albums and single records.

Offers Complete Stock.

"There are very few records called for that we do not have in stock," Smart says. "We are very fortunate to be able to offer one of the most complete musical selections in central Ohio to Mansfield area music lovers under present conditions and will do all in our power to maintain complete selections as long as possible."

Besides recordings, the record department caters to all the needs of the record buyers including record-players, radio-phonograph combinations, needles, recording discs, record albums and record cabinets.

Highlighting the radio-phonograph combination display at Smart's is the Magnavox, the oldest name in radio. Magnavox, according to Mr. Smart, recently received the Navy "E" for excellence in communications.

Not only does the Magnavox present the utmost in tone and range but it styles all of its instruments to blend with any period of furniture design.

"Our motto reflects our attitude towards our customers," says Smart. "The motto is 'If you share with us a love of good music, we would like to know you."

Smart is celebrating his 25th year in Mansfield and has been associated with music and engaged in it as an instructor and studio director most of that time. He came to Mansfield in 1917 from the Cincinnati conservatory.

Piano Makes Comeback.

Because there has been a remarkable return to the piano as a musical instrument for the home, Smart is featuring his piano display and urges it as the instrument for parents to use to introduce their children to music.

Smart's pride in his stock of pianos is the Kimball which is featured in a special display at the rear of the record shop. Kimball makes one of the oldest pianos and is used by the Chicago musical college and many outstanding concert artists.

For the person desiring the regular home piano, Smart has on hand several types of pianos which have been produced by leading manufacturers as samples.

Smart does not confine his musical supplies to the listening public. Soundproof instruction and practice studios are maintained and a complete selection of first-class instruments is available to persons wishing to obtain musical instruction.

Shown above is a view of the Kimball piano display at Smart's Music Shop and Studios at 6 South Main street. Smart maintains one of the most complete record stocks in central Ohio and has sound-proof booths for customers to use to hear their favorite records before purchasing them. This year, Eugene Smart, proprietor of the shop and studios, is celebrating his 25th year in Mansfield. Below. Sport Podge

by REX HESS

Paul Carbetta, Mansfield featherweight fisticuffer, is all hyped up over his chances in the professional ring after his four round decision victory last Monday night over Pete Boles in Detroit.

Boles, a favorite with Detroit fans, was performing in his 19th professional fight, and Carbetta was going to the post in his second pro scrap, and the first in nearly a year. During the year Paul had grown from a flyweight amateur champ to a featherweight.

And Boles had piled up 15 straight victories when he took on the Mansfield youngster.

Carbetta came out of it with nothing worse than a bump under one eye caused by the Boles butting tactics, and a bruised thumb which resulted from Boles ducking into a left hook before it got straightened out.

And the best he got out of it was an offer to appear back in Detroit in two weeks, and plans for future booking in Toledo. He was tentatively offered a Toledo bout with Chico Morales, Cuban champion, but Chico was knocked coo-coo in Toledo Wednesday night, so that may be out.

Meanwhile Carbetta expects a bout soon in Pittsburgh.

It's been long time, but he getta there yetta,
Will thees young fella, Paulie Carbetta.

"I'd liked to have seen big Ed's face about that time," grinned Harold Aston, catcher of the Mansfield all-star softball team.

Aston was referring to a story they're telling about Ed Henrich, Mansfield bowler, baseball and softball player, and big brother of Yankee Tom Henrich.

Seems that Ed was strolling about the streets of Columbus with some Mansfield friends several days after his recent induction into the army, and suddenly felt the urge to catch up with the outside world by means of the public prints. So he bought a paper.

Now there's nothing in the regulations against buying a paper, but Ed, after glancing at the headlines, decided the news could wait for later perusal, and stuck the paper in his hip pocket, just as he'd been used to doing at home.

The Mansfield group hadn't strolled far before Ed felt someone tap him on the shoulder, and turned around to find an M. P. glaring at him.

"Look, Bud," said the M. P., "that paper would look a lot better back on the news stand or in your hand."

"That," says Aston, "is when I'd like to have seen Ed's face."

Over in Shelby they're calling Whippet pitching ace Bob Laubie one of the best all around athletes to graduate from Shelby high school in recent years.

They'll get no argument from Mansfield footballers on that score. "We really learned to respect that boy," says Paul Dietzel, recalling that Laubie was the only boy to run wild against the Tygers last fall.

Laubie was all-N. C. O. league fullback for two years, guard on the basketball team, star runner on the track team, and baseball pitcher.

He graduates May 29.

Finals In Tourneys Conducted

Mansfield Golfers Far Off Ohio Title Pace.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS — (AP) — The chips were down today, and 1,000 Ohio high school athletes were set to battle it out for the state's scholastic championships in golf, tennis, baseball and track-field. The entrants are the survivors of more than 20,000 who started down the county-district-state tournament trail several weeks ago.

* * *

Baseball and golf were almost at the halfway mark, despite postponement of a portion of yesterday's preliminary program. The tennis squads were to see their first action during the morning, and a Sunday session was expected to wind up the affairs of court.

Track-field, the No. 1 event on the four-ply show, was due for decision today in both Class A and Class B, regardless of the weather. Events will be scored on a 6-4-3-2-1 basis, the winner getting six points.

Preliminaries were run off in five Class A and five Class B track events yesterday. In the big league defending champion Cleveland East Tech qualified four men and Springfield's snarling Wildcats five.

Xenia O. S. & S. A. Home, Class B king of the cinders the last two campaigns, qualified only one man in the dashes and hurdles—in which the Cadets won three firsts in 1941—but the Greene county boys still were favored to reign again since most of their present strength is in the field and distance competitions.

Sylvania was out front in golf competition by five strokes at the halfway mark, the defending champion Upper Arlington quartet skidding to a three-way sixth-place tie with 354, nine strokes off the pace. Pete Sohl, defending individual champ from Upper Arlington, had a chance to retain his laurels, however, as he was tied with John Zoller of Hamilton Public for medal honors with 78, two ahead of the pack and six over par.

Closest behind Sylvania were Worthington and Tiltonville with 350, while Youngstown Rayen and North College Hill, the pre-tourney favorite, had 352 each, Lima South and Hamilton Public were deadlocked with Upper Arlington. Back of them came Mansfield 356, Toledo Devilbiss 361, Dayton Fairview 369, Shaker Heights 371, Dayton Oakwood 380, Canton McKinley 380, Logan 389, Elyria 391, and Gallipolis 409.

* * *

The lower-bracket Class B basketball team reaching the finals must play three games today, Yorkville, Chardon, Columbus St. Charles and Webster Township not getting into action yesterday. Still in the Class A scrap, with semi-finals slated this afternoon, were Marion Harding vs. Greenfield McClain, and Tiltonville vs. Columbus North.

Reading and Vaughnsville, winners of yesterday's Class B contests, meet at noon for a finals berth opposite the ultimate winner among the lower bracket quartet.

The track program calls for 14 events in each class. Baseball titles are decided in each division, too, but the golf and tennis competition is wide open, no distinction being made between the small and large schools.

Cars Scarce For Dodgers

Jimmy Lynch Troupe Gives Fairground Show.

The Jimmie Lynch Death Dodgers will be making their first appearance of the season in the Ohio area tomorrow afternoon when the daredevils present their two-hour, thrill-packed performance at Mansfield fair track, the events being slated to start at 3:30 o'clock.

With Jimmie Lynch, sr., veteran daredevil, making a personal appearance with his troupe, the Death Dodgers will perform in 22 thrilling events, including the outstanding automobile and motorcycle stunts of the year, combined with laughter provided by two clowns.

The shortage of new automobiles requires that the Death Dodgers conserve on new cars and use old jalopies in two of their sensational events—the dive bomber crash and the deliberate crash roll. And this means that the pilots, without the protection of steel tops and new conveniences of more modern automobiles, will face far greater hazards.

* * *

Daredevil Bill Horton, for instance, will use two old machines for the death-defying dive bomber crash, an event in which he circles the track, races up an elevated rampway to a height of 12 feet, then catapults his machine through space for a distance sufficient to hurdle a large passenger bus and finally crashes into the side of another parked automobile, demolishing both machines. After this terrific crash, from which Daredevil Horton hopes to ascend, the machines are removed to the junk yard and made ready for transformation

Baseball Aids Service Funds

Feller and Mulcahy Hurl In Boston Game.

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

Almost anything can happen in the seven major league baseball games scheduled today, but a sure winner in two of them is the Army-Navy Relief Fund.

Proceeds from games in the nation's capital, where the New York Yankees meet the Washington Senators, and at Boston, where the Red Sox take on the Philadelphia Athletics, will go to help care for the families of those who fall on the fighting fronts.

The two contests are part of a series of 16 scheduled in the two leagues for the fund.

An added attraction at Boston will be a curtain-raiser between service teams, with Sailor Bob Feller pitching for the navy nine and Soldier Hugh Mulcahy opposing him for the army squad.

Only six teams saw action yesterday.

In the lone afternoon game, moved up to daylight by New York's ban on night baseball, the Giants bumped Brooklyn's National league leaders, 5-1, handing the Dodgers their second straight defeat and Pitcher Ed Head his first loss after five triumphs.

The second-place Boston Braves chopped another half-game off Brooklyn's margin and reduced the Dodger lead to five lengths by whipping the Philadelphia Phils, 10-7. Ernie Lombardi poled a home run and four singles in five trips to the plate for the Braves.

At Chicago, the White Sox downed the Detroit Tigers, 7-4, in the only American league game, hanging up their eighth victory in ten starts. Johnny Humphries was credited with the victory.

The first Saturday night game in Cleveland Indians' history probably will be played tonight.

Vice President Roger Peckinpaugh wasn't happy about it either, because the battle will add to the Indians' burdened schedule, by making them play three games in 24 hours. And in the next nine days the schedule calls for 13 contests.

Jim Bagby will be trying for his seventh victory tonight—if the game can be played.

Johnny Niggeling, the knuckleball specialist, will fire for St. Louis.

Pastor Wins, But Gets Draw

Few Experts Agree With Judges' Decision.

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK — (AP) — The understatement of the year would be to say today that the look on Joe Louis' face was one of simple surprise when he heard the announcement that gave Tami Mauriello a draw with Bob Pastor.

And since promoter Mike Jacobs felt the same way, Uncle Mike said today he "didn't see why" the outcome of last night's ten-round thriller in Madison Square Garden "should change whatever plans are in the making" for a late-June or early-July tussle between Rapid Robert and the Bomber.

Of course, everything still hinged on whether Uncle Sam's army would give Mike and Private Joe the green light for that fight. If the okay comes along, Mike indicated he would go ahead, despite what happened last night. The chances are the fight will go to Cleveland or Chicago, instead of New York, with the Ohio city in front just now.

Those at ringside last night came pretty close to being unanimous that Pastor had whipped Mauriello, in spite of the Fordham Flailer's fast start, and a finish in which he and Bob stood head to head and banged away for minutes at a time. A crowd of 11,327 customers chipped in to a gross pot of $22,972.

Of 25 boxing writers polled, 22 thought Pastor won, two agreed with the draw decision and one believed Mauriello finished on top. This corner gave Pastor six rounds, Mauriello two and called two even.

The officials called it a draw, though, and that's what counts.

JOE CALLS IT

NEW YORK — (INS) — "Who won it, Joe?"

They looked at the solemn-faced colored boy, sitting quietly at the ringside at Madison Square Garden last night and awaited his reply.

And as usual Pvt, Joe Louis "Pastor win it," said Joe, and he laughed and got up and walked out.

* * *

That's all the heavyweight champion of the world had to say about the ten round draw between Bob Pastor and young Tami Mauriello of the Bronx, fought at Madison Square Garden here last night.

NOVA-SAVOLD BOUT POSTPONED AGAIN

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— The Lou Nova-Lee Savold heavyweight fight, postponed last night because of weather for the second time, will be held Monday night with officials hopeful the delay will boost gate receipts.

Nova is expected to have the edge in weight, about 204 to Savold's 186 pounds.

Saints Boast Slugging Trio

Climb A. A. Ladder on Potent Hitting Punch.

CHICAGO—(AP)—One of the American Association's hardest-hitting infield trios in years was leading St. Paul up the ladder in statistics compiled through Thursday noon.

First Baseman Phil Weintraub, second baseman Frank Drews and third baseman Jimmy Grant were running one-two-three in the batting race, just as they were a week ago. None was hitting as high as last week but there was a general slackening of the pace and their positions were not threatened.

Weintraub slipped from .397 to .385, Drews fell from .391 to .369, and Grant from .378 to .364.

The combination also was showing well on defense, being credited with much of the work that made St. Paul the second best fielding team with .971. Toledo led with .977 and Milwaukee and Kansas City were tied at .969.

Weintraub also was first in doubles with 12. The home run lead was held by Hub Walker of Minneapolis with 10, while Joe Bestudik of Indianapolis claimed the triple perch with six. Bestudik's batting mark was .355.

Williams Ends Draft Row

TED WILLIAMS

BOSTON—(AP)—Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox' slugging outfielder who was the object of harsh criticism from baseball fandom when he appealed his 1-A draft classification last winter, has been accepted for enlistment as a seaman, second class in the U. S. Navy.

* * *

Ted Williams Joins Navy

Boston Slugger Enlists As Aviation Cadet.

BOSTON—(INS)—Thumpin' Teddy Williams, the elongated, sweet-hitting Boston Red Sox outfielder whose draft status was carried direct to President Roosevelt, was a naval aviation cadet today.

It was expected, however, he would not be called up for active service until the end of the current baseball season.

The 1941 American league batting champion, whose easy going manner resulted in baseball-loving fans calling him "The Kid," was sworn in as a would-be flyer after passing a four hour navy physical examination.

"Gee," he said after he stepped into the public relations office of the first naval district where the enlistment announcement was made public, "I knew I'd do the right thing. This is it. I'll get a chance to fly anything the navy has."

* * *

Think you'll stick to flying?" Someone asked.

"Listen, hitting is my first and only love," he replied. "Print that twice. When this war is over I'll be back hitting."

The $30,000-a-year slugger explained the idea of going into the air corp was advanced by his friend, Lieut. Robert "Whitey" Fuller, former Dartmouth college publicity director.

"Lieutenant Fuller took me through the naval air station at Squantum," Ted said. "I had a swell time. That was three weeks ago, just before the last western trip of the club.

"I decided then to take the test but I kept it a secret because I was afraid I might flunk the test."

Flight Surgeon Frank Philbrook said he was deeply impressed with Williams' eyes. "They tested 20-15, which is above average," he said. "His depth perception is extraordinary. I suppose that is why he is able to hit so well. For the same reason he will be able to land a plane much better. His nerve reflexes are normal and mentally he is ahead of most boys in his educational group."

Williams had the national spotlight focused on him last February when the presidential board reclassified him from 1A to 3A because his mother needed his financial support.

Williams batting average of .406 last season made him the first man in the American league to slug over the .400 mark since Harry Heilman of Detroit accomplished the feat in 1923.

Williams is currently batting at a .319 clip and has poled out nine homers. Last year he hit 37 four-baggers.

WELCOME ALSAB

NEW YORK —(INS)— Alsab comes back to town today and about 40,000 of this village's citizens will be out at Belmont park to welcome him and root him home in the 6th running of the historic Withers mile. There are nine other crack three year olds named to run against the courageous son of good Goods-Winds Chant, but the mob will send it in an Alsab and he may go to the post an even money favorite.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
(By Wide World)

NEW YORK—Think you have headaches? How'd you like to trade the job of running a chain of minor league clubs for some big-league outfit? . . . Besides the normal supply of holdouts, sore arms, injuries, etc., this season you'd have players taking defense jobs where they can make more dough, night games being ruled out if your park is too near the coast, customers from out-of-town staying at home to save their precious gas and tires, that new ruling against chartering buses—and maybe six patches on the right tire of the bus your class "C" team owns, a lot of hurry-up calls to replace players who were drafted or enlisted . . . and on top of all that, you don't know whether to go out and sign up a lot of promising 16 and 17 year old kids for next year because you don't know whether you'll have any clubs operating.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR.

George R. Farrar, jr., Woonsocket (R. I.) call: "If the elasticity in the major league baseball waiver law were the only rubber, then there would be no need for Mr. and Mrs. Baseball Phan to conserve their precious rubber tires and tubes."

PRACTICE NEEDED?

In three years as a member of the Temple U. track team, Johnny Lupoli never was able to win a race. . . . Last season he decided to call it quits and play baseball instead. . . . But when examinations kept him from taking a southern trip with the ball team, he asked to go along with the track squad on a shorter jaunt. Johnny won both the 100- and 200-yard dashes against Bucknell, and now he swears he'll never again train for sprinting.

GAMES POSTPONED

CANTON —(AP)— All Mid-Atlantic league games were postponed yesterday because of the weather. Tonight's contests: Dayton at Charleston, Springfield at Canton, Erie at Zanesville.

"Woods and Waters"

By YUNCKER BROS.

Almost every living creature, under nature's plan, has other creatures to prey upon it and has to learn to avoid them if it is to survive. The whale shark, however, is an exception. It has no enemies and so has to fear nothing. Not only does it reach great size—up to 60 feet in length—but it is literally armor-clad with a hide about 4 inches thick. Harpoons rebound from it, or, if they do penetrate, bend and are pulled out.

* * *

Killer plants that catch and eat insects are fairly well-known, but the bladder-wort is one that eats fish. The plant's "stomach" floats at the water's surface and bears beautiful yellow flowers. It snares its food—very often small perch—by means of its rootlike branches.

Waterspouts explain some of the "showers of fish" reported from time to time. Reliable eye witnesses have seen the fish fall. In 1928 several hundred small fish were dropped in a cotton-field in North Carolina. It appears they were carried there by a spout which rose from a body of water three quarters of a mile distant.

* * *

Probably the most important item in the fisherman's tackle requirements is the rod. At Yuncker's you'll find complete selections of fishing rods for all types of fishing, from the famous True Temper, tempered steel casting rods to the popular jointed cane poles. You are sure to find just the RIGHT rod for your needs at Yuncker's, at a price you can afford to pay.

* * *

Turtles are more intelligent than most people give them credit for being. On a certain Potomac river island, which is a wild-life refuge, a dinner gong is rung each day, and the turtles come out of the woods as fast as they can, knowing food will be thrown to them.

A deer chews its cud, just like its ruminary relative, the cow, although some folks — even sportsmen — are surprised to learn it.

Both white and brown pelicans are famous fishermen — with entirely different techniques! Browns are divers, and plunge from great heights into the water for their victims, while whites gang up to herd fish into the shallows for easy catching.

Lineup Picked For All-Stars

Aid Geiger Opposes Kirkendall on Mound.

It will be Aid Geiger on the hill and Harold Aston behind the platter for the Mansfield All-Star softball team tomorrow afternoon at Liberty park when they attempt to gain revenge for the 6-0 trimming handed a Mansfield team a year ago by the 1940 state champion Ferguson State Auditors.

And it probably will be Diz Kirkendall on the mound for the Auditors, seeking to duplicate or better the 1-hit, 6-0 victory of last summer, when he set 15 Mansfielders down on strikes.

The probable lineup announced today for the All-Stars: Willard Lockhart, lf, Harold Aston, c, Bob Bogantz, rf, Harry Ross, 3b, Bob Boyd, ss, George Hummell, rover, Jim Musille, cf, Bud Woerth, 1b, Pete Campbell, 2b, and Aid Geiger, p.

Held in reserve will be Bud Plank, the Ashland pitcher who opposed the Auditors last year, Peanuts Musille, catcher, Gerald Schaefer, infielder, and Joe Freiheit and Earl Bates, outfielders.

All proceeds over the Auditors' guarantee will go to the "smokes for soldiers" fund. The American Legion drum corps will be on hand to lead a patriotic air to the occasion, and Mayor Bill Locke will toss out the first ball.

The game is scheduled at 2:30.

2—Card of Thanks

WE WISH to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all friends, neighbors, relatives, the Westinghouse, Golden-Russel's, Armolder's Union, Rev. G. F. Lewis and the Wappner Funeral Directors for their kindness shown us during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father, Robert G. Brooker. We also wish to thank all those who sent flowers and furnished cars.
MRS. R. G. BROOKER
AND FAMILY. (S-K)

WE WISH to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to our friends and relatives for their kindness shown during the sickness and the death of my beloved wife, our sister and aunt, Mrs. Carl McVey. Also to Msgr. R. C. Goebel for his kind consideration and consoling words and the Geiger Funeral Home for their courteous service.
Carl McVey
Mrs. Sue Reid,
Mrs. Anna Simmons,
John McCue
Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Snyder. (C-K)

WITH REGARD TO A CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The News-Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but also courteously acknowledges the service and kindness of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed, or whose names or addresses are not known.

A "Card of Thanks" can now be arranged by telephone. Dial 4251-6, ask for Miss Lane or Miss Stone, either will be glad to render whatever service and advice you need.

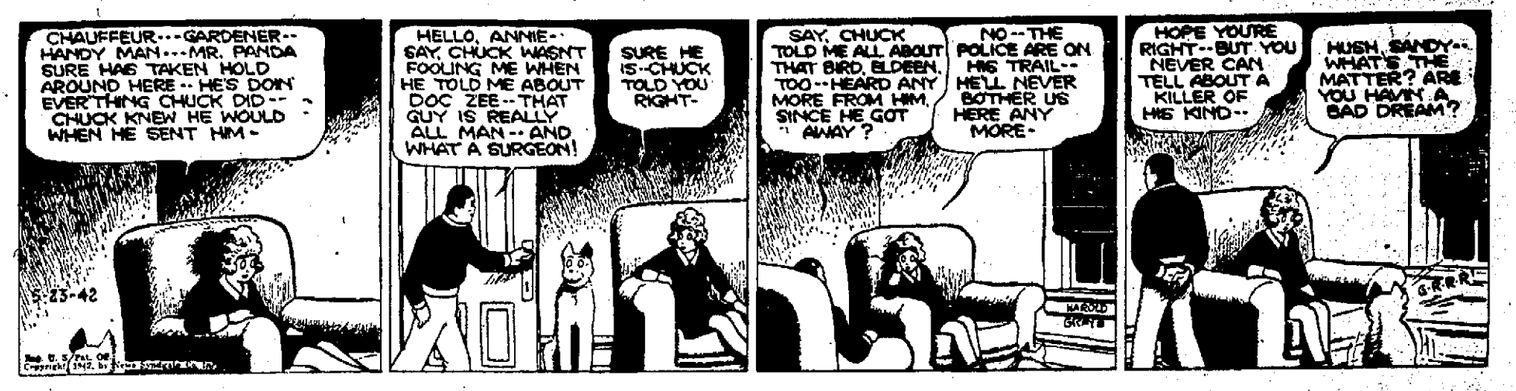
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE— His Nose Knows. By Harold Gray



CHAUFFEUR---GARDENER--HANDY MAN---MR. PANDA SURE HAS TAKEN HOLD AROUND HERE--HE'S DOIN' EVERYTHING CHUCK DID--CHUCK KNEW HE WOULD WHEN HE SENT HIM-
5-23-42
HELLO, ANNIE--SAY, CHUCK WASN'T FOOLING ME WHEN HE TOLD ME ABOUT DOC ZEE--THAT GUY IS REALLY ALL MAN--AND WHAT A SURGEON!
SURE HE IS--CHUCK TOLD YOU RIGHT-
SAY, CHUCK TOLD ME ALL ABOUT THAT BIRD, ELDEEN, TOO--HEARD ANY MORE FROM HIM, SINCE HE GOT AWAY?
NO--THE POLICE ARE ON HIS TRAIL--HE'LL NEVER BOTHER US HERE ANY MORE-HOPE YOU'RE RIGHT--BUT YOU NEVER CAN TELL ABOUT A KILLER OF HIS KIND-- HUSH, SANDY--WHAT'S THE MATTER? ARE YOU HAVIN' A BAD DREAM?

PAM—Happy! By A. W. Brewerton

IT WAS CERTAINLY GOOD TO SEE OLD DOUG, HIMSELF, AGAIN! JUST LIKE WHEN WE WERE LADS IN THE OLD HOME TOWN. I'M GOING BACK, SOON AS HE'S STRONG ENOUGH, AND TALK OVER OLD TIMES!
5-23
AND PAM-
I CAN HARDLY BELIEVE IT YET! THAT BLOW STRUCK IN THE EXACT SPOT NECESSARY! JUST A SMALL FRACTION OF AN INCH OTHERWISE MIGHT HAVE BEEN FATAL!
HOW LUCKY WE ALL WERE!
COLONEL CAREY IS SO HAPPY HIS OLD BOYHOOD FRIEND IS HIMSELF AGAIN AND WON'T HAVE TO BE PUT INTO AN ASYLUM!
BUT SOMETHING HAPPENED THAT EVENING AS PAM WAS HOMEWARD BOUND AND FOR THE TIME BEING, DROVE ALL THIS FROM HER THOUGHTS!
WHAT A DARLING DRESS!
PLEASE...

THE NEBBS—All Doubt Removed. By Sol Hess

CLEO TELLS ME YOU PLAN TO HIRE YOUR WIFE'S NEPHEW, PRESSMAN, TO RUN THE PAPER
I MIGHT IF WE EVER LOCATE HIM... NOBODY KNOWS WHERE HE IS RIGHT NOW
5-23
IF YOUR LUCK HOLDS OUT YOU'LL NEVER FIND HIM--THAT GUY'S NO GOOD
YOU DON'T SAY? I HAD MY DOUBTS ABOUT HIM BECAUSE HE'S RELATED TO MY WIFE, BUT-HE DOUBLE-CROSSED ME AT BALMY BEACH, AND I'D TRUST HIM LIKE I'D TRUST A TIME BOMB IN MY BACK YARD!
IF YOU'RE AGAINST HIM HE'S GOT A PERFECT CHARACTER REFERENCE--IF HE SHOWS UP HERE, HE'S HIRED!

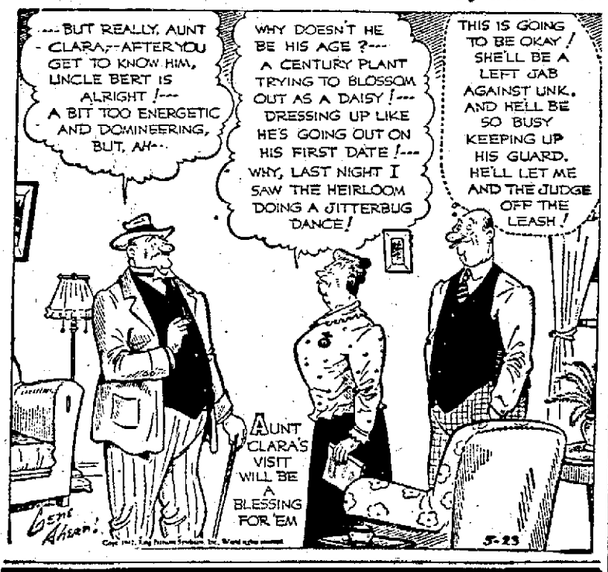
JUDGE PUFFLE— By Gene Ahern



---BUT REALLY, AUNT CLARA,--AFTER YOU GET TO KNOW HIM, UNCLE BERT IS ALRIGHT!--- A BIT TOO ENERGETIC AND DOMINEERING, BUT, AH---
WHY DOESN'T HE BE HIS AGE?--- A CENTURY PLANT TRYING TO BLOSSOM OUT AS A DAISY!--- DRESSING UP LIKE HE'S GOING OUT ON HIS FIRST DATE!--- WHY, LAST NIGHT I SAW THE HEIRLOOM DOING A JITTERBUG DANCE!
THIS IS GOING TO BE OKAY! SHE'LL BE A LEFT JAB AGAINST UNK, AND HE'LL BE SO BUSY KEEPING UP HIS GUARD, HE'LL LET ME AND THE JUDGE OFF THE LEASH!
AUNT CLARA'S VISIT WILL BE A BLESSING FOR 'EM

BATH AIDS GAS VICTIMS

BERKELEY, Cal—(U.P.)—Dr. Joel Hildebrand, head of the AEF's Chemical Warfare Service in World War I, said that the best antidote for mustard gas, is a bath with plenty of soap. The gas, he said, is principally harmful where it comes in contact with the skin, and the important thing is to wash it off.

The total number of deaths from air bombings in England in 1940 was 23,081.

WESTINGHOUSE SHOWS SLIGHT MARKET GAIN

Selected Stocks Draw Bids But Many Leaders Fail To Attract Traders.

NEW YORK—Bids were forthcoming for selected stocks in today's market proceedings but many leaders were neglected.

Advancing fractionally were Chrysler, Chesapeake & Ohio, United Aircraft, U. S. Steel, Westinghouse and Du Pont. Small declines were recorded for Southern Railway, Bethlehem, Loew's, Sears Roebuck and Goodrich.

Holders of rails noted reports the government soon would institute freight priorities as a means of expediting shipments of war materials. The Association of American Railroads, at a meeting in Chicago next week, is expected to consider the proposal of the office of defense transportation that carriers convert the bulk of passenger travel luxury equipment into coaches.

Financial analysts studied the summary of the federal reserve board disclosing a further jump in industrial production during April and a continuance of the move so far in May. The board's index was up from 172 per cent of the 1935-39 average in March to 174 per cent in the succeeding month.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Instructors' Meeting—The Richland county First Aid Instructors' club will meet at North Lake park Wednesday at 7.30 p. m., to elect officers.

To Plan Camp—The Y W. C A daytime camp committee will complete plans for the daytime camp at a meeting Thursday at 1:30 p. m., at the building.

Approve Project—Richland and Knox county commissioners, meeting in joint session in Mansfield, today had approved the construction of a culvert on a road between the two counties, each county to pay half the cost. The Richland county highway department will do the work.

Arrest Motorist—J D. Reynolds, 509 Sloan avenue, was arrested last night by Mansfield police on a speeding charge. Police charged that Reynolds was driving more than 50 miles per hour on Marion avenue. He will be arraigned in municipal court Wednesday at 1:30 p m.

License Suspended — Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer today had suspended the driving rights of Roy Walters, 17, of Lexington after finding the youth guilty on a charge of careless and reckless driving. He was cited by the state highway patrol.

Hold Convention — Sunday schools of five Butler and Weller township churches will hold a convention tomorrow at Union high school. Sunday school services will be held at 10 a m, with a basket picnic at noon and afternoon sessions at 1.30 p. m.

Bad Check Passed — Mansfield police reported today that a worthless check for $10.75 had been passed at Lee's Tavern, 161 Park avenue east last night. Employes at the tavern told police that a man, giving his name as "Carl Myers" passed the check. They furnished police with a description of the man.

Boyhood Reminder — Walter F. Tunks, of Akron, whose hobby is collecting old-time "dime novels," will provide the program at next Tuesday's Rotary club meeting and will exhibit some of the once popular thrillers. His subject will be "Buffalo Bill Rides Again." Dr. F. J. Heringhaus will be program chairman.

Check Restaurant Fire—Mansfield firemen from Companies 1 and 2 were called out today at 6:11 a. m. to extinguish a fire in the kitchen of the Evergreens restaurant at 15 North Walnut street. Firemen said that the fire was caused by a short in the electric motor of the refrigerator and that little damage was caused.

Mansfielder's Father Dies—Funeral services for William H. Jolliff, 84, father of Clifford Jolliff, News-Journal composing room employe, were held this afternoon in Wooster. Mr. Joliff, former Wooster city councilman, was in the dairy business for a number of years. He was the father of seven sons and a daughter, all of whom survive.

THEATERS

Musical Show.

Bud Abbott and Lou Costello become targets for liquidation by enemy agents in "Rio Rita," the filmusical, opening a week's run at the Ohio today. The two appear as stowaways in a young singer's car and get mixed up with the enemy when they mistake camouflaged radios for apples. John Carroll plays the singer and Kathryn Grayson portrays the title role of "Rio Rita," a Texas girl and the childhood sweetheart of Carroll. Stirring musical numbers from the original stage show by the same name and dances by a new Brazilian entertainer are featured.

Murder Thriller.

A band of murderers, hypnotically controlled by a mind miles away, gives a new twist to the mystery thriller, "Fingers At the Window," showing at the Madison. Lew Ayres, Laraine Day and Basil Rathbone appear in the leads with Rathbone playing the part of the menace. Ayres has the role of a young actor who turns detective when a night club dancer's life is threatened. Walter Kingsford and Miles Mander are in the cast. Rudyard Kipling's "Jungle Book" filmed in technicolor by Alexander Korda is the second picture.

Newspaper Comedy.

Katharine Hepburn and Spencer Tracy pool their talents in "Woman of The Year," lively comedy of the domestic life of a newspaper sports writer married to a columnist of international affairs. Tracy plays the sports writer who doesn't know one foreign language from another and Miss Hepburn is cast as his columnist wife who hasn't any idea what he is talking about when he discusses the baseball diamond. Fay Bainter, Reginald Owens and Minor Watson are in the cast. Gene Autrey in "Home in Wyomin'," is the second attraction.

Comedy Melodrama.

Storm troopers uniforms come in handy in "To Be or Not To Be," Carole Lombard's last picture with Jack Benny, showing at the Park. The two stars play "ham" actors in Warsaw at the time of the German invasion and they and their fellow troupers are forced to fall back on Nazi regalia until they can evade the gestapo. Benny has the part of a phony gestapo officer while Miss Lombard participates in the underground movement. "Sing Your Worries Away," with Bert Lahr, June Havoc and Alvino Rey's orchestra is the second attraction.

NATION PLANS TRAVEL CONTROL

Use of Buses, Trains, Planes To Be Rationed to Meet Military Needs.

to guarantee that no transportation bottleneck develops in the crucial months ahead. Daily the transportation load is mounting.

Serving to highlight the imminence of travel rationing, already on a priority basis in regard to planes, the office of defense transportation inaugurated a survey of intercity bus and railroad passenger travel originating in 100 cities, with the view of adjusting passenger travel requirements to the available facilities.

At the same time, WPA workers will interview more than 20,000 inter-city travelers to ascertain the purpose of their trips frequency of travel, mileage and destination. The information will serve as a background for travel rationing anticipated by late summer.

Bus service between Washington and New York will be placed on a war footing June 1 and the plan soon will be extended to other "critical" areas of the nation, ODT representatives said.

In the first test, the four lines operating between the two eastern cities will ban express runs, pool equipment, stagger schedules and honor each other's tickets.

Murder On the Avenue

By Carolyn Wells

(Copyright 1942)

CHAPTER XVII

He sat in his forlorn cell, his spirits cheered by the positive belief that he would soon be out of it, and this awful fear would be gone forever.

Fleming Stone didn't want to take the case that Chadwick offered him. He was worn out with some especially difficult and dangerous work he had been doing lately, and his doctor had told him if he didn't go to Bermuda or some other dolce far niente region, he would be in a hospital before he knew it.

But Stone had not forgotten that about a year ago he had had an obscure problem to work out and Chadwick had been able to give him information that led to the solution of the puzzle, and Chadwick had gone out of his way to do it. Chadwick had not referred to this, in his urgent pleading, never so much as hinted in the slightest degree that Stone was under obligation to him, and so Stone told the lawyer he would look into the matter.

Of course, Chadwick said he didn't want Stone to injure his health, and Stone said he'd take a chance on that, and what were the circumstances.

When Chadwick began to tell him the circumstances Stone said the case needed an expert to take hold of it, and he would take hold.

Then Chadwick, who had a talent for generalship, dropped out of the picture and told Stone to go first to see Clarence Bliss, and after that to make the necessary arrangements to see Herrick.

"Of course," Chadwick went on, the police all believe Herrick guilty, as also do the McCleod family. Bliss doesn't, but he's up to his neck in his double-business harness, so, after all, there's no one to tell you of Brand's innocence, but himself."

"And you."

"Yes, but I can give you only convictions, not facts."

So Stone went to see Bliss that evening, to save his daylight for him.

"I wasn't at the party," Clarence told the detective. "I don't know the McCleods. And since Herrick is—not with me. I have been so busy with our office that I've heard none of the evidential details and know nothing of any sidelights. I am profoundly thankful you are on the job, Mr. Stone, and I can tell you that it is impossible that Herrick could have done that thing. I know that sometimes men say another man couldn't do this or that when really he could and did. But Brand Herrick is a superior sort. Few know him as I know him, but I have lived and worked with him for four years, and every day I have learned more fully his fineness and his strength. But I am sure you will read him aright, and you will soon see for yourself that I speak the truth."

"Good for you, Mr. Bliss That's the sort of description of the man I want. Now, how shall I approach him? I don't want to waste time floundering. Will he be afraid of me?"

"No, but you may be afraid of him. Sometimes he is ferocious. Though of gracious manner, he can turn and rend anybody when he chooses However, I have a notion he'll welcome you as a drowning sailor does a raft. And whatever he says to you, believe it. Because of his leaning toward waggery, he has an uncanny ability to tell lies with a sincerity that compels belief. But this is only in fun. Herrick would no sooner lie in an important matter than he would cut off his right hand. You'll see him tomorrow morning?"

"Yes, I think that will be arranged."

"Then will you give him these two letters It will save my going up there. Good Lord, Mr. Stone, you will save the boy, won't you? To think of that splendid fellow in danger of his life! Is there no justice in this world?"

"If there is we'll find it I'll see you again, Mr Bliss, after I interview the friend you esteem so highly."

Next morning Fleming Stone came to Herrick's cell.

Brand greeted him with a fine courtesy and a smile so palpably forced that Stone disregarded it and looked into his client's eyes. In their depths he saw such grief and sorrow as he had seldom if ever met before.

"Sit down, man," he said gently, "and tell me all about it."

"There isn't much to tell—it's only that somebody made a mistake," Brand laughed.

"Let up on that lightsome attitude and forget to try to smile."

"This better?"

Stone realized that Clarence Bliss had been right when he said Herrick could look ferocious.

"No, no. That's not right, either. I want you to look as Fatima looked when Sister Anne said, 'Yes! I see your brothers coming!' Try it!"

* * *

And because of the assurance in the speaker's voice and manner and smile, Brand, without effort gave the look asked for.

"You're the goods!" he said fervently

"Now you're for it," he told Brand "How much have you to tell me?"

"How much do you know already?"

"Very little So tell me all and be as brief as possible"

Herrick did it well, giving a slight description of the party and a fuller report of the police detectives inquiry which had brought about the arrest.

"Doesn't seem to me there was enough evidence to arrest you," Stone said thoughtfully.

"I had that notion, too," Brand agreed, "but they cared so little for my opinion."

"They would. As you detail the situation, discovery of the murderer seems to me to depend on the order in which you young men filed through that coat room."

"And that is past finding out. I've tried and tried You see, I've no idea who went out as I came in, or—who came in as I went out."

"Opposite doors, eh?"

"Yes, and the room was a general thoroughfare and meeting room. The place is just one room after another—must be a dozen on that floor and as many more downstairs. We didn't go in the ladies' dressing-rooms, but they raided our coat room."

"And Mrs. McCleod was in that room, while several of her friends came in, stopped, let us say, to speak to her, and then as someone else appeared, left her?"

"Yes. And the four, of us say we were there, yet each denies killing Alma. Now, if we four filed through, and if one of us did the killing, it must have been the last one."

"Not necessarily."

"Why not? If anyone had followed the killer, he would have given the alarm—as Doris Day did later."

"He might have and he might not. Suppose he was afraid to, lest he be suspected?"

"You mean it might not have been any of us four?"

"No; I don't mean that, I mean that it need not have been the last of you four. The last one of you may have been the one who saw her dead, and kept silent."

Herrick thought for a moment.

"I can't get it," he said "All I know for certain, is that Mr. McCleod was the first one, and that I was not the last, because someone came in that room at one door, just as I left at the other."

"Why did you hurry out?"

"Because Alma told me to. She said she thought it was her husband and I'd better go. But it wasn't her husband. He was up with his father."

"You're sure of that?"

"Oh, yes. Miss Emmy vouched for the time, and she is very exact about everything."

"And Mrs. McCleod didn't want her husband to see you with her?"

"I shall have to tell you I see I have nothing more than friendliness for Alma, but she had chosen of late to prefer my company to the others. It is but a passing fancy, and perhaps she was piqued because I did not meet her advances more eagerly. Just before the tragedy,

ACTING ON CODED INSTRUCTIONS, SAVANNAH SALEM ENTERS A SPECIFIED CAB.
WE'LL BE THERE IN A FEW MINUTES!
THAT'S A RELIEF! WE'VE BEEN CRUISING AROUND WASHINGTON FOR AT LEAST TWO HOURS!
THERE SEEMED TO BE A CAR TRAILING US!
I DON'T SEE ANY, NOW.. YOU'LL PARDON ME FOR BEING CURIOUS, BUT WHERE ARE YOU TAKING ME?
WHAT'S THIS?
I WAS TOLD TO TAKE YOU HERE... GO RIGHT IN!
I WAS ASKED TO COME HERE!
WE EXPECT. PLEASE TO ENTER!
OH—! PRINCE CAESAR.
HAVE A SEAT, MY DEAR!
IN GOING THROUGH MY PAPERS, I CAME ACROSS THIS RATHER CURIOUS CLIPPING... IT THROWS LIGHT ON YOUR PAST — OUR PAST!
WHY— THIS CLIPPING STATES THAT YOU WERE PRESENT AT MY CHRISTENING, PRINCE CAESAR!
MORE THAN THAT... I AM YOUR GODFATHER!
I WAS SO HONORED WHILE YOUR FATHER WAS AMERICAN AMBASSADOR TO MY COUNTRY THAT IS MOST FORTUNATE! IT MEANS WE CAN WORK TOGETHER, OPENLY!
I WILL ARRANGE TO "DISCOVER" YOU LIVING IN WASHINGTON.. THE NEWSPAPERS WILL BE INFORMED...
...LATER, I HAVE OTHER PLANS. NOW, AS TO THE DETAILS OF OUR "SURPRISE" MEETING, SAVANNAH....
MEL GRAFF
IT'S UNDERSTOOD, THEN, SAVANNAH — YOU'RE TO BE IN THE CONGRESS GALLERY TOMORROW AFTERNOON?
I'LL BE THERE, PRINCE CAESAR!
HALF AN HOUR LATER... SAVANNAH RETURNS TO HER HOTEL, CERTAIN THAT NO ONE HAS FOLLOWED HER.
ENTERING HER ROOM, SHE SNAPS ON THE LIGHT.
YOU?
WILL YOU GO, OR MUST I HAVE YOU THROWN OUT?
I'LL ASK THE QUESTIONS! SIT DOWN, MISS SALEM!
YACHT CLUB? PRINCE CAESAR? I DON'T KNOW WHAT YOU'RE TALKING ABOUT!
WHAT'S THAT SCRAP OF PAPER, STUCK ON THE SOLE OF YOUR SLIPPER?
SO YOU WEREN'T NEAR THE YACHT CLUB, EH?
ALL RIGHT, I DID SEE PRINCE CAESAR! I ONCE HEARD OF A GIRL WHO MARRIED A PRINCE! ANY HARM IN THAT?
YOU CLAIM TO BE A LAWYER... PERSONALLY, I THINK YOU'RE HERE IN WASHINGTON TO STOP, LOOK AND LISTEN — AND REPORT!
YOU'RE STOOGING FOR A HOUSE-PAINTER! RUN ALONG, BEFORE I TURN YOU IN TO THE FBI!
WELL?

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

THIS IS OUR NEW GUEST, ANNIE — HER NAME IS ELLA
HELLO, ELLA — I'M TERRIBLE GLAD TO SEE YOU
YOUR BED IS NEXT TO MINE AN' WE'LL EAT AT THE SAME TABLE — HONEST, IT MAKES ME FEEL GLAD ALL OVER
I DON'T KNOW WHAT TO SAY — YOU'RE SO NICE
NICE? HUH, I'M JUST DUMB! I FORGOT YOU'RE A STRANGER AN' YOU FEEL KINDA LONESOME — I DID TOO, AT FIRST — COME ON, I'LL SHOW YOU THE WHOLE PLACE
DARRELL McCLURE
ZERO IS THE SMARTEST POOCH IN THE WORLD — LOOK HOW HE'S WAGGIN' HIS TAIL — THAT MEANS HE LIKES YOU AN' YOU'RE OKAY — AN' WHEN ZERO SEZ YOU'RE OKAY — YOU ARE OKAY!
I'M AFRAID I'M ONLY IN THE WAY
YOU'RE DOIN' FINE — 'COURSE, YOU GOTTA LEARN SOME THINGS BEFORE YOU GET YOUR OWN FARM — BUT LEARNIN' TO FARM IS LOTSA FUN
YOU MEAN — WHEN I LEARN HOW TO GROW STUFF, MR. OLIVER WILL LET ME HAVE A FARM OF MY OWN??
OF COURSE — EVERY KID RUNS HER OWN FARM —
5-19
YOU JUST HELP HANNA AN' ME FOR A COUPLE OF DAYS — UNTIL YOU LEARN 'BOUT WEEDS AN' BUGS — AN' THEN YOU GET A FARM AN' WORK ON IT ONE HOUR EVERY DAY — BUT YOU GOTTA VOLUNTEER — 'CAUSE THAT HOUR IS PART OF YOUR PLAY-TIME
DARRELL McCLURE
OH, ANNIE — OF COURSE, I'LL VOLUNTEER — 'CAUSE I'D JUST LOVE TO WORK ON A VICTORY FARM AND HELP WIN THE WAR LIKE A MILLION OTHER CHILDREN ARE DOING
I JUST CAN'T HELP FEELING SCARED, ANNIE — I NEVER WENT TO A REGULAR SCHOOL BEFORE — I WENT TO A KINDERGARTEN FOR A LITTLE WHILE WHEN I WAS JUST A LITTLE GIRL — BUT —
PLEASE, ELLA, DON'T BE SCARED — GOIN' TO SCHOOL IS SWELL — 'COURSE, AT FIRST YOU FEEL KINDA NERVOUS, 'CAUSE YOU DON'T KNOW THE RIGHT ANSWERS TO ANYTHING — BUT ALL YOU HAVE TO DO IS GO TO SCHOOL AN' TRY YOUR BEST —
AN' EVERY DAY YOU JUST CAN'T HELP LEARNIN' SOME RIGHT ANSWERS — WHEN YOU FIRST START YOU DON'T EVEN KNOW HOW TO SPELL CAT — BUT THE TEACHER TEACHES YOU HOW — THAT'S WHAT YOU GO TO SCHOOL FOR —
THEN, PRETTY SOON YOU KNOW HOW TO SPELL CAT AN' DOG AN' HORSE AN' COW — AN' EVERY DAY YOU KIN SPELL BIGGER WORDS — AN' LEARN 'RITHMETIC AN' GEOGRAPHY — AN' WHEN YOU'RE GROWN UP YOU'LL KNOW SO MANY RIGHT ANSWERS ALL THE FOLKS WILL SAY, "MY GRACIOUS GOODNESS BUT ELLA'S SMART!"
D. McC.
HA. HA. HA. HA
PLEASE STOP LAFFIN' AN' TELL US WHAT YOU'RE LAFFIN' AT
I WAS JUST THINKING 'BOUT DAY AN' NIGHT — AND I JUST COULDN'T HELP LAUGHING
WHAT'S SO FUNNY 'BOUT DAY AN' NIGHT?
DAY BREAKS, BUT IT DOESN'T FALL — AN' NIGHT FALLS, BUT IT DOESN'T BREAK! THAT SEEMS VERY FUNNY TO ME
I LOVE TO HEAR HAPPY HANNA LAUGHING — IT SOUNDS LIKE SOME KIND OF FUNNY MUSIC THAT MAKES ME FEEL GOOD WHEN I HEAR IT — EVEN THOUGH I DON'T KNOW WHAT SHE'S LAUGHING AT
DARRELL McCLURE
YOU MEAN SHE'S JUST A LITTLE ORPHAN LIKE US — AND NOW THAT NICE LADY AND GENTLEMAN ARE GOING TO BE HER FATHER AND MOTHER? IT MAKES ME THINK I'M DREAMING
YOU'RE NOT DREAMIN', ELLA — THAT LITTLE GIRL'S NAME IS MABEL — SHE'S AWFUL NICE
YOU CAN TELL BY THE SWELL CAR THEY'RE RICH FOLKS — I'LL BETCHA THEY LIVE IN A GREAT, BIG HOUSE AN' HAVE LOTSA MONEY — JUST THINK HOW HAPPY MABEL MUST FEEL
IT'S JUST LIKE WATCHING A FAIRY TALE HAPPENING — I WONDER WILL I —
SURE, YOU WILL! I'LL BETCHA PRETTY SOON SOME NICE FOLKS, LOOKIN' FOR A NICE LITTLE DAUGHTER, WILL SEE YOU, AN' THE NEXT THING YOU KNOW YOU'LL HAVE FOLKS JUST LIKE LUCKY KIDS HAVE DARRELL McCLURE
5-22
I THINK YOUR SUSPICIONS ARE UNFOUNDED — I CANNOT BELIEVE MR. OLIVER IS DOING ANYTHING DISHONEST — IN FACT, HE SPENDS HIS LIFE HELPING THE HELPLESS
YEAH — I KNOW ALL THAT — MAYOR
BUT A LOT OF SMART CROOKS USE CHARITY AS A CLOAK TO HIDE A RACKET — THEY HANG ON TO NINETY PERCENT OF ALL THE DOUGH THEY COLLECT — I CAN'T EVEN LEARN THIS BIRD, OLIVER'S, RIGHT NAME
I DON'T EVEN KNOW IF OLIVER IS HIS FIRST OR LAST NAME — HE NEVER SIGNS HIS NAME TO ANYTHING — DOES ALL HIS BUSINESS WITH COLD CASH — THERE'S SOME REASON FOR ALL THE MYSTERY AND I'M GOING TO FIND OUT WHAT RACKET HE'S WORKING
5-23
HONEST, NO FOOLIN', ELLA — YOU CAN'T BREAK ANY RULES HERE, 'CAUSE THERE ARE NO RULES — MR. OLIVER SEZ, "RULES AN' WALLS AN' LOCKS CAUSE MORE TROUBLE THAN ANYTHING ELSE IN THE WORLD."

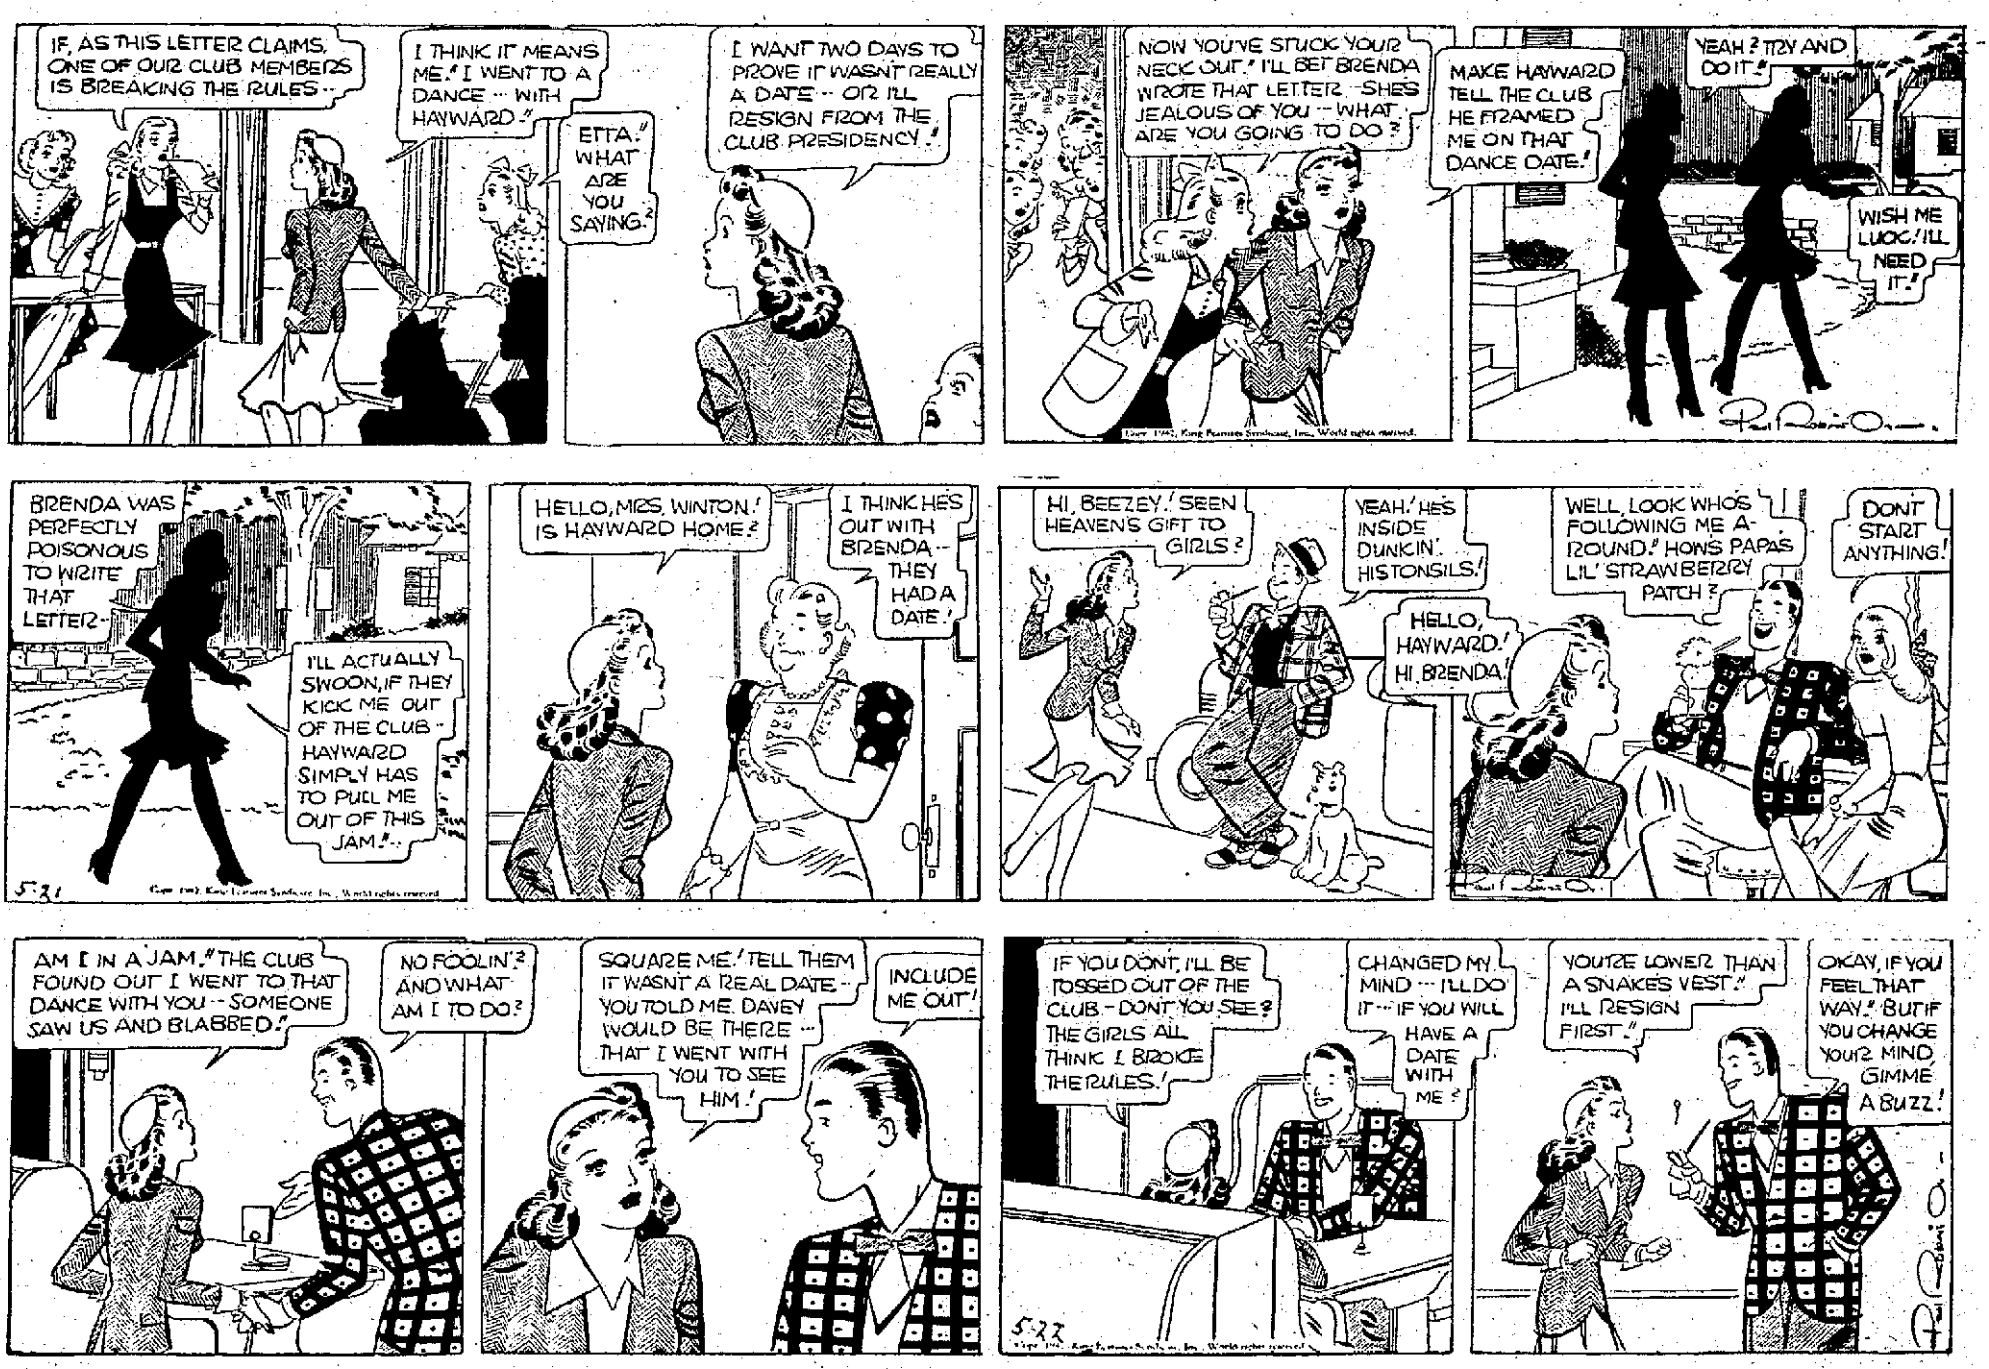
YOO-O-O!!
THAT'S NANCY YODELING. "SHE'S GOING TO CLUB MEETING WITH ME TONIGHT." 'BYE.'
ARE YOU STILL PRESIDENT?
YEP-EEE!"--AND NEW BRANCH CLUBS ARE POPPING UP LIKE MUSHROOMS, ALL OVER THE COUNTRY!
HI!
IMAGINE THE WORST." BRENDA SAW YOU OUT WITH HAYWARD SATURDAY NIGHT!
SHE WOULD!
AND NOW SHE'S BLABBING TO ALL THE CLUB MEMBERS THAT YOU'RE BREAKING THE PLEDGE -- DATING BOYS!
SECRETARY WILL NOW READ THE CORRESPONDENCE
FIRST IS A LETTER." ADDRESSED TO THE CLUB--AND OF VITAL IMPORTANCE TO EVERY MEMBER!
HOLD YOUR HAT." THIS IS IT."
DEAR 'HEARTS IN SERVICE' CLUB, -- WHAT PRETTY BRUNETTE DATED A TALL, HANDSOME BOY TO A DANCE SATURDAY NIGHT? SIGNED,- CLARA VOIANT
WELL! WHO'S GUILTY?
GUESS I MIGHT AS WELL STAND UP!
DONT BE A GOOF!
SOMEBODY IS BREAKING A RULE AND MAKING THE CLUB LOOK RIDICULOUS!
BET IT'S ETTA."



IF, AS THIS LETTER CLAIMS, ONE OF OUR CLUB MEMBERS IS BREAKING THE RULES --
I THINK IT MEANS ME." I WENT TO A DANCE -- WITH HAYWARD."
ETTA." WHAT ARE YOU SAYING?
I WANT TWO DAYS TO PROVE IT WASN'T REALLY A DATE -- OR I'LL RESIGN FROM THE CLUB PRESIDENCY!
NOW YOU'VE STUCK YOUR NECK OUT." I'LL BET BRENDA WROTE THAT LETTER -- SHE'S JEALOUS OF YOU -- WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO?
MAKE HAYWARD TELL THE CLUB HE FRAMED ME ON THAT DANCE DATE!
YEAH? TRY AND DO IT!
WISH ME LUCK! I'LL NEED IT!
BRENDA WAS PERFECTLY POISONOUS TO WRITE THAT LETTER-
I'LL ACTUALLY SWOON, IF THEY KICK ME OUT OF THE CLUB -- HAYWARD SIMPLY HAS TO PULL ME OUT OF THIS JAM!-- HELLO, MRS. WINTON." IS HAYWARD HOME?
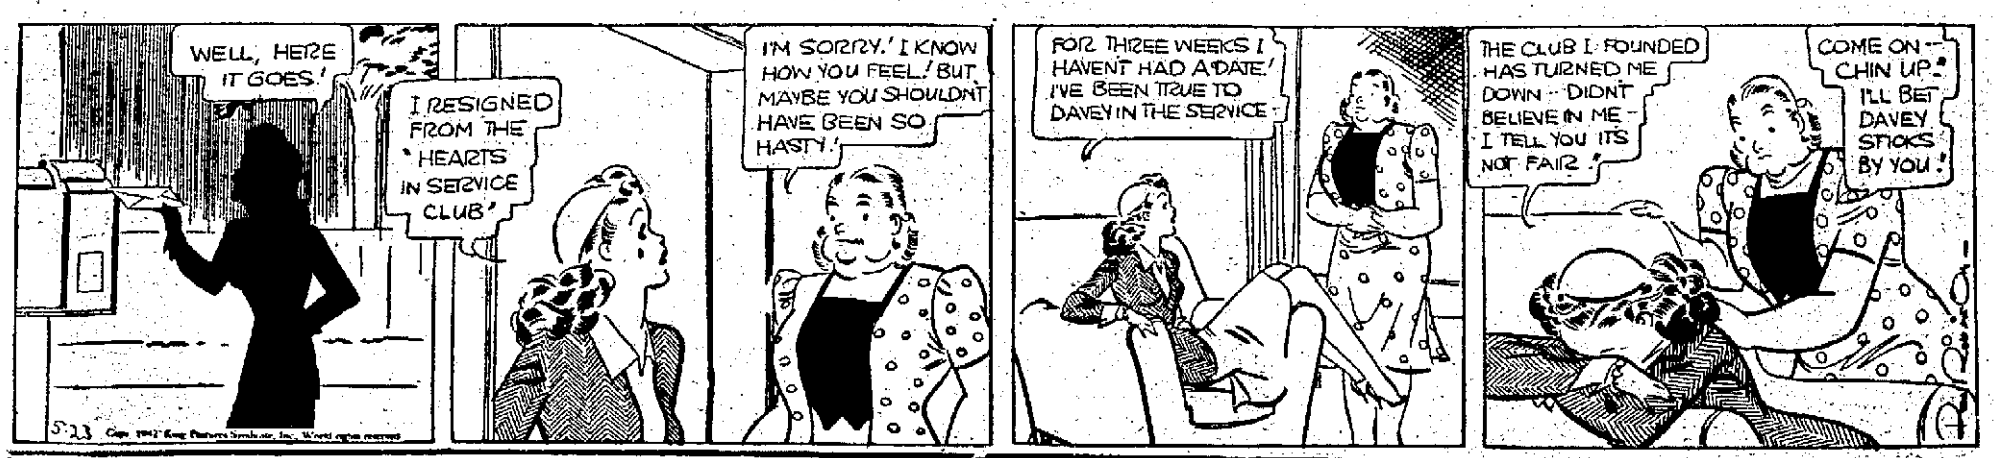
I THINK HE'S OUT WITH BRENDA -- THEY HAD A DATE."
HI, BEEZEY." SEEN HEAVEN'S GIFT TO GIRLS?
YEAH." HE'S INSIDE DUNKIN' HIS TONSILS!
HELLO, HAYWARD." HI, BRENDA."
WELL, LOOK WHO'S FOLLOWING ME AROUND!" HONS PAPAS LIL' STRAWBERRY PATCH?
DONT START ANYTHING!

AM I IN A JAM." THE CLUB FOUND OUT I WENT TO THAT DANCE WITH YOU -- SOMEONE SAW US AND BLABBED."
NO FOOLIN'? AND WHAT AM I TO DO?
SQUARE ME." TELL THEM IT WASN'T A REAL DATE -- YOU TOLD ME DAVEY WOULD BE THERE -- THAT I WENT WITH YOU TO SEE HIM."
INCLUDE ME OUT!
IF YOU DON'T, I'LL BE TOSSED OUT OF THE CLUB - DON'T YOU SEE? THE GIRLS ALL THINK I BROKE THE RULES."
CHANGED MY MIND -- I'LL DO IT -- IF YOU WILL HAVE A DATE WITH ME?
YOU'RE LOWER THAN A SNAKE'S VEST." I'LL RESIGN FIRST."
OKAY, IF YOU FEEL THAT WAY." BUT IF YOU CHANGE YOUR MIND, GIMME A BUZZ!



WELL, HERE IT GOES!
I RESIGNED FROM THE "HEARTS IN SERVICE CLUB"
I'M SORRY." I KNOW HOW YOU FEEL." BUT MAYBE YOU SHOULDN'T HAVE BEEN SO HASTY!
FOR THREE WEEKS I HAVEN'T HAD A DATE." I'VE BEEN TRUE TO DAVEY IN THE SERVICE
THE CLUB I FOUNDED HAS TURNED ME DOWN -- DIDN'T BELIEVE IN ME - I TELL YOU ITS NOT FAIR!
COME ON -- CHIN UP! I'LL BET DAVEY STICKS BY YOU!
